Sen. Norris Asks Congress To Curb Supreme Court Powers Are Too Great HE ASSERTS

Nebraska Republican Opens Debate on Farm Program on Senate Floor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — Sen. George W. Norris in a voice trembling with emotion called upon congress today to restrict the powers of the supreme court. The white-haired Nebraska Republican entered debate on the administration's new farm bill with a dramatic warning that the nation faced destruction unless its agricultural problems were solved and that the supreme court's invalidation of AA could not stand if the country is "to live and prosper."

The veteran orator called upon the chamber to "have the courage" to restrict the court's power to invalidate laws enacted by congress.

His outstretched hands trembled as he spoke and his voice cracked with emotion.

Norris declared congress could, "if it had the courage," provide that only by unanimous decisions could the court overthrow acts of congress.

"It seems to me, Mr. President, that it is inexcusable," he said. "It seems to me that this coordinate branch of our government has gone beyond any power that was ever contemplated in the constitution."

Norris said the court's decision returning $200,000,000 in taxes to processors was "the greatest gift since God made salvation free" and remarked "the people can change congress—but only God can change the supreme court."

MASTER MISSING

Capt. E. S. McLellan, master of the Army transport Republic, who was missing when the vessel reached San Francisco from the Orient. He was last seen four or five hours before the vessel docked.

FEDERAL FUNDS MAY FINANCE LECTURES HERE

PROSPECT that Santa Ana may be one of 10 cities in the United States chosen by the U. S. Department of Education for presenting a series of platform lectures throughout the year, was discussed today by City Superintendent Frank A. Henderson, as he prepared to depart next Monday for St. Louis, where he will attend the national convention of school superintendents.

The series of lectures, financed by a federal fund, has been tentatively offered to Santa Ana by J. W. Studebaker, national commissioner of education, and an old friend of Superintendent Henderson. The 10 points for presenting the lecture series would be:

EXTENSION OF ANTI WAR ACT SOUGHT

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Gives Approval to Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — The senate foreign relations committee voted unanimously today to ask the senate to extend until May 1, 1937, the existing neutrality act designed to keep the United States out of war.

The action would postpone the administration's proposed permanent neutrality act.

The committee also unanimously agreed to amend the existing law by adding a provision banning loans or credits to belligerent nations.

Another proposed amendment, exempting American republics from application of the act if at war against a foreign nation, also was agreed upon but it may be eliminated when the senate takes final action.

The existing law expires February 29. Decision to abandon attempts to enact a new program came after President Roosevelt expressed desire for early congressional adjournment. Chairman Key Pittman said the extension resolution could be whipped through through the senate with little delay. The house also is expected to agree.

Sen. Hiram Johnson, R., Cal., who had planned vigorous opposition to the permanent neutrality program, said he would support the committee's extension plan and agreed with Pittman action could be speeded up so that the issue would be settled before the present statute expires.

Bowers Museum Will Be Opened Saturday

WITH appropriate ceremonies, the formal opening of the Charles W. Bowers Memorial Museum at Twentieth and North Main streets, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m., it was announced today by Mrs. F. E. Coulter, museum curator.

Terry E. Stephenson, chairman of the museum board of trustees, will preside at the ceremonies. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Albert E. Kelly, president of the Santa Ana Ministerial union.

Featured speaker at the opening will be Dr. F. W. Hodge, manager of the Southwest Museum at Los Angeles, who formerly was curator at the Smithsonian Institute. Mayor Fred C. Rowland also will appear on the speaking program in a talk presenting the museum to the public.

Presentation of an American flag by Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, president of the Daughters of the American Revolution on behalf of her organization, will be one of the colorful highlights of the program. Music will be provided by a group of Spanish musicians under direction of Alfonso Yorba, of San Juan Capistrano.

Saturday the museum will be open for public inspection from 7 to 9:30 p. m. and during this time strolling troubadours will play Spanish music. In the future, the museum will be open Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and from 2 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Mrs. Coulter said today that she expects Santa Ana people to be charmed with the beauty and attractiveness of the museum and the displays.

She pointed out that there are a number of displays which the Southwest Museum and other museums have been trying to obtain.

Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the museum trustees will entertain the city council at a preview of the museum.

SUFFERING INCREASED BY STORMS

Many Families Forced to Burn Furniture as Fuel Gives Out

CHICAGO, Feb. 12. — Blizzards howled across the Dakotas, Minnesota, and Iowa today and the stricken middlewest prepared for another desperate stand against starvation and cold.

Drifts piled rapidly across freshly-cleared highways and railroad right of ways in Iowa. Fear was felt that fuel shortages, already forcing many families to burn furniture, may become worse.

Farmers and rural residents raced ahead of the storm for fresh supplies and prepared for an extended siege.

Many of Iowa's 500 mines, reopened only yesterday, may be forced to close in the face of the new storm. Wood supplies are exhausted.

Highways and sideroads in the Dakotas had not yet been cleared of the last heavy snowfall, hundreds of communities and small ranches were reported badly in need of supplies. Temperatures ranged far below zero and immediate aid was impossible.

Minnesota anticipated no widespread suffering but officials said transportation systems would suffer. Schools were closed.

Milk supplies were exhausted in many sections.

Railroads rushed available supplies of fuel and food to isolated communities to stave off the latest emergency.

Two women and two babies died in a blazing farmhouse near Jackson, Minn.

At Vreepot, Ill., livestock was menaced by a rising pack of hunger-crazed dogs, and in Indiana three more deaths were attributed to the cold.

Sub-zero cold continued over the north central and great plains states and colder weather and snow were forecast for tomorrow.

REOPENS CASE

Gaston Quien, who served 17 years in prison in connection with betrayal of Nurse Edith Cavell to the Germans, is seeking vindication and has reopened the case to prove his innocence.

LEIBOWITZ TO VISIT BRUNO IN DEATH CELL

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. — Samuel Leibowitz, famous criminal lawyer, today announced he would visit Bruno Richard Hauptmann in the death house in Trenton and demand "the whole truth" of his connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping as a condition for accepting Hauptmann's case.

The lawyer, who has a record of 112 acquittals in 116 murder cases, issued a statement indicating the terms on which he would head the Hauptmann defense following a conference with Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, wife of the convicted slayer.

The statement read:

"Persons of great prominence and standing have sought to enlist my aid in the Hauptmann case. I have just had an extended conference with Mrs. Hauptmann at my office. I have made clear to her in plain English under what conditions I will consent to be identified with her husband's case.

"I do not propose to enter this case in order to play a game of legal chess to save Bruno from the chair. Any person with the least bit of discernment can place little credence in the fish stories told in Bruno's behalf from the witness stand in the Flemington courtroom. By the same token there was much produced by the prosecution that smelt to high heaven.

"The best advocate that Bruno can retain at this crucial moment is Bruno himself. He must make up his mind to tell the truth and all of it.

"I am going to see him in the death house, and he must tell me the whole truth, let the chips fall where they may—or I will not lift a finger in his behalf. The contention that this was a 'one man job' is sheer nonsense. Perhaps Bruno can supply answers to the perplexing questions in the case. I shall make every endeavor to prevail upon him to do what Gov. Hoffman (Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey) has asked him to do. Therein lies his only possible salvation from death in Trenton's electric chair."

Leibowitz was expected to go to Trenton tomorrow for the death house interview with Hauptmann.

PIONEER OF HUNTINGTON BEACH DEAD

Car Skids on Rainy Pavement and Collides With Truck and Tanker

CONTEMPLATION of a pleasant evening of dancing at Long Beach last night became tragedy for Albert Wilson, 58, and Ernest Lorenz Koppl, 70, Huntington Beach men who were instantly killed as their car, skidding on the wet pavement of Coast highway, 300 feet northwest of Huntington Beach, crashed sideways into an oncoming truck and tanker.

The accident occurred about 6:30 o'clock last night during a rain storm, as the men, with Wilson driving, were going to the old timers' dance in Long Beach, according to investigation. Injuries which caused the men's deaths were identical, each suffering a broken neck and crushed right sides, according to State Highway Patrolman Horace Inge, who investigated.

By the accident, the 1936 death toll in Orange county was raised to 11.

It was believed Wilson, who lived at 218 Elmira street, Huntington Beach, applied the brakes of his car when another driver, following behind the truck and tanker which was traveling into Huntington Beach, nosed around the tanker into Wilson's lane of traffic. Turning sideways the Wilson car crashed against the truck and was hurled 88 feet before coming to rest against an earth bank.

James Frederick Daniel, 35-year-old truck driver, of 5894 Carmelita street, Maywood, was not held. He was operating a heavy Evans Tank line oil truck and tanker.

The bodies were removed to Dixon's mortuary, Costa Mesa, where, according to Deputy Coroner Earl Castelh, he and Coroner Earl Abbey will conduct an inquest Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Wilson, a widower, has been a resident of Huntington Beach for 15 years. He was employed at the White Laundry company, Huntington Beach, as a laundry wagon driver. He is survived by two sons, John and Paul, of Huntington Beach, and a daughter, Mrs. Cora.

SECY. WALLACE DEFENDS LEGACY OF MESSIAH

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 12. — Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, defending constitutional authority of the administration's new farm bill, warned today of dangers of a "judicial dictatorship."

He asserted it is "the duty of citizens and officers of government to point out the error of the court" when the court makes decisions which these citizens and officers believe erroneous in the light of changing conditions.

"Unless we can do this, preferably in the calm, matured way in which Lincoln did it, then we have a judicial dictatorship," Wallace said.

"Whatever else the founding fathers may have intended, they did not intend a dictatorship by any one of the three branches of government."

REOPEN GATES OF S. D. EXPOSITION

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 12. — Sunshine broke through clouds which have blanketed San Diego for the past 24 hours today as officials of the California Pacific International exposition prepared to swing open the gates for the 1936 season at 2:30 p. m.

Threat of rain persisted, however, with the forecast for unsettled weather and possible showers late today. Directors said the inaugural ceremonies would be conducted as scheduled rain or shine.

Tonight, after President Roosevelt turns on the lights by pressing a telegraph key in Washington, formal opening ceremonies will be combined with services commemorating Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

MISSING SCHOOL GIRLS BACK HOME

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Feb. 12. — A statewide search for three Santa Monica high school girls who disappeared yesterday morning was ended today, with none of them worse for a hitch-hiking trip to Santa Cruz, although two were subjected to severe exposure.

Police found Beryl McCoy, 18, and Margaret Wood, 17, cold, rain-soaked and bedraggled, huddled along a lonely stretch of road between Santa Cruz and Los Gatos. Frances Hellenthal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hellenthal of Santa Monica, was located at the home of friends here, police said.

"COIN" HARVEY SAN QUENTIN IS CALLED BY DEATH IN NIGHT

MONTE NE, Ark., Feb. 12. — W. H. (Coin) Harvey, who introduced William Jennings Bryan to the 16-1 silver theory and got 53,000 votes for president in 1932, died of peritonitis last night in his hermit's refuge.

He was 84, but vigorous until the last days of his life and a critic to the end of the country's "suicidal money system." Few persons of this generation knew more than his name and fewer attended his economic theories but "Coin" fought every day for reforms he believed would enrich the nation.

Intestinal disorder caused the peritonitis that killed him. He became ill last Friday and was only semi-conscious after midnight Monday. His wife was with him and all of his three children—Thomas W. Harvey, Adne Annette Harvey, of Huntington, W. Va., and Mrs. Marie Hope Hammond, of New York—had telephoned in his last 30 minutes of life.

For several years before he led the "Liberty" party in the national campaign of 1932, and since then, Harvey had lived a recluse's life in Monte Ne. He came here, he said, to "reflect on what might possibly save civilization."

Harvey was the pioneer advocate of the coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 as compared with gold. When Bryan adopted the theory and led one of the most celebrated political campaigns of the country's history on the issue, Harvey was a national figure and leader of a great following. His fame and power died with interest in the silver issue. Harvey's hopes to see his plans adopted lived on. He thought that President Roosevelt's policies generally were commendable, but he called his silver policy a "travesty on the metal." Bankers were anathema to him, he always attributed Bryan's defeat in 1896 to "the use of money, and all the calling in their debtors and notifying them that if Bryan was elected the banks would call in their loans."

PARACHUTES SAVE FOUR ARMY FLIERS

ATLANTA, Feb. 12. — Four army fliers parachuted to safety without injury today when their army bomber ran short of gas as it was preparing to land here and crashed.

The plane, a type B-6 bomber, was one of a group of 24 en route from Langley field, Va., to France field, Panama canal zone, where the officers and men on the flight are attached.

The bomber, No. LD-6, was piloted by Capt. Otto C. George. When he saw he did not have enough altitude to make Candler field here, he told the three men with him to bail out.

One by one, George, First Lieut. Robin B. Eller, co-pilot; Sgt. George Russell, and Sgt. Harry McHayes took to their parachutes and reached the ground without injury.

The men jumped at an altitude of 2500 feet.

POSTPONE OPENING S. F. WORLD'S FAIR

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. — Start of San Francisco's world fair to commemorate building of the city's two great bridges, originally scheduled for 1938, has been postponed a year and will open February 18, 1939, "because of circumstances beyond control of the exposition company," it was announced today.

The announcement was by Leonard Cutler, president of the San Francisco Bay Exposition, Inc., and followed a meeting of the company's executives immediately after a ceremony at Yerba Buena Island, San Francisco bay, celebrating actual beginning of physical work on the project.

The fair will run for 288 days and close December 2, 1939, Cutler said. It will commemorate completion of the huge Golden Gate bridge and of the bridge across the bay to Oakland.

URGENT LINCOLN AS G. O. P. INSPIRATION

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 12. — The Republican party was urged by Gov. Frank P. Merriam to draw inspiration today from the "Great Emancipator" in ending present-day human bondage for the "rank and file of the American people."

Speaking before the San Diego Republican league at a Lincoln dinner, Governor Merriam said that the party to which Lincoln belonged "finds in his example inspiration for enlarged service."

"The day of human bondage is not over," said the governor. "Much remains to be done in order that the great rank and file of the American people may enjoy satisfactions which life in this great republic can offer."

"The party can discover means of meeting these issues in the same spirit that Lincoln solved the problem of slavery."

U. S. DESTROYER ON ERRAND OF MERCY

BALBOA, C. Z., Feb. 12. — The United States destroyer Tattail carrying serum and doctors and nurses from the Gorgas hospital, sped today to the rescue of the merchant marine training ship California State, stricken with an outbreak of spinal meningitis 1000 miles out in the Pacific.

One of the youths aboard the ship has died and another is reported dying.

The Tattail proceeded under forced draft, it carried two doctors from the Gorgas hospital, four hospital attaches and four enlisted men of the army who will act as nurses. The destroyer will travel at 25 knots and expects to reach the California State early tomorrow morning.

MEXICAN SOLDIERS PURSUE KIDNAPERS

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12. — A strong force of federal troops today pursued bandits who kidnaped two American mining engineers, with orders from the government to continue until they had exterminated the band.

As the pursuit started, efforts were made at Guadalajara to raise a ransom—reported to be $3,000—for the engineer still held.

The men kidnaped were Samuel C. Faneuf and Paul W. Avery, both of California, and mining men in Mexico for many years. They were seized at Mazata mine near Jilisco in an isolated part of Jalisco state.

SEN. BORAH ENTERS ILLINOIS PRIMARY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — Sen. William E. Borah formally announcing entry in the Illinois presidential primary of April 14, said today he intended to deliver several speeches and wage an active campaign in that state.

"I have filed in Illinois," Borah said. "I had to do so under the state law."

The deadline was tomorrow but his managers in Illinois advanced the filing to obtain a preferential place on the ballot.

With Borah and Frank Knox contesting the Republican nomination and with President Roosevelt's name entered for the Democratic primary, the Illinois pre-convention campaign is expected to develop into a keen political battle.

STUDY PLANS FOR STRONGER FLEET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — Plans for strengthening the U. S. battle fleet were studied today by the senate naval affairs committee.

Principal recommendation was for authorization of plans to modernize 14 of the navy's 15 battle ships. Supplementing this proposal was the suggestion 221,000 tons of auxiliary fleet construction be started to provide the navy with ample facilities for transport of munitions and supplies.

The navy program was placed before the committee by Read Admiral Emory S. Land, chief of the navy construction bureau, and Rear Admiral E. J. King, chief of the bureau of aeronautics.

LONDON ACCLAIMS CHAPLIN PICTURE

LONDON, Feb. 12. — Critics agreed today that Charles Chaplin's new film, Modern Times, was magnificent, and the funniest he ever made.

Police had to struggle with crowds in the Strand outside the Tivoli theater, and traffic was congested, for the first showing last night.

Autograph seekers broke the police lines.

Many actresses in the enthusiastic audience wore black gowns in mourning for King George. Arrivals were cheered heartily by the crowd outside. They included Diana Wynyard, Elizabeth Bergner, Merle Oberon, Alice White, Cleely Courtneidge, Edmund Lowe and George Arliss.

CAPTAIN'S LOSS MYSTERY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. — Unable to reach a definite conclusion following investigation of the mysterious disappearance of Capt. Edgar E. McLellan from aboard the U. S. Army transport Republic, an army board of inquiry believed today that the vessel's master died either by suicide or accident.

"We have been unable to reach any conclusion, but tend to the theory of either suicide or accident," Col. Arthur E. Ahrends, members of the army inquiry board which investigated the case, announced.

He admitted that the only testimony indicating suicide was disclosure that the captain suffered from neuritis.

GERMANS ABROAD MUST JOIN ARMY

BERLIN, Feb. 12. — The government issued an ordinance today marshaling for labor and military service all German citizens living temporarily or permanently abroad.

The ordinance, published in the official gazette, was signed by the ministers of interior, war and foreign affairs. It provides every German citizen abroad, including those carrying double citizenship, must report to the German consulate as soon as his class is called up.

G. O. P. WELCOMES REBEL DEMOCRATS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. — Inviting participation of revolting Democrats in hundreds of Lincoln's birthday banquets and political rallies, the Republican party tonight launches a concerted, nation-wide attack on the Roosevelt administration in the Pacific coast states.

Foremost interest in the holiday meetings centered at Portland, Ore., where former President Herbert Hoover, still ranked as chief of the G. O. P. forces, is expected to lead off the barrage before a capacity crowd of 1000 and millions of radio listeners.

The former president is scheduled to speak to the main banquet hall crowd of 750 persons prearranged at 7 p. m.

ernment, least of all by the branch most removed from contact with or restraint by the people."

Wallace spoke before the Indiana farm bureau in a Lincoln's day address.

He argued that since the government was largely responsible for tremendous increases in crop production during the world war, it should now have authority to control production.

Referring to the new soil conservation program now under consideration by congress, he said it was "a sincere effort to operate within the limitations laid down by the majority of the supreme court (in the AAA decision)."

He pointed out, however, only the supreme court itself can answer that question "will the plan meet with the approval of the supreme court."

"We believe that the supreme court will approve the new legislation if it recognizes any one of the three following propositions:

"1. The fact of the nation-wide interdependence of all commerce, from the humblest farm to the largest corporation.

"2. The extent to which the doctrine of states' rights is being used as the final refuge for anti-social corporations.

"3. Federal responsibility for our post-war agricultural dilemma."

YOUTHS HELD HERE WANTED IN BERKELEY

Virgil Stevens, 18, and Harold Barrett, 22, who said they were students at a Los Angeles university, were in county jail today, charged with burglarizing the Richmond service station, operated at 522 South El Camino Real in San Clemente, by Eugene "Bunny" Hansen, son of Ole Hansen, war-time mayor of Seattle.

A "hold" order was sent by telephone from Berkeley to Sheriff Logan Jackson shortly after the youths were arrested, declaring they were wanted in the northern city for grand theft of the automobile they were using at the time of the burglary.

According to state highway patrolmen who arrested Stevens and Barrett at Carlsbad shortly after they took $7 from the Hansen service station cash register and escaped, and according to Chief of Police Tom Murphy of San Clemente, who returned the men from Carlsbad for prosecution, one claimed the cash register while the second engaged Hansen in conversation.

One got out of the car before reaching the service station and while the other drove the car to the air pump and asked Hansen's assistance, the first walked into the service station office, removing the money, according to the report of officers. Hansen, finding the cash gone, broadcast a description of men and car and their arrest followed. Both gave their address as 10216 Wilkins street, West Los Angeles.

More than half the coal mined in South Africa is produced in the Transvaal.

EDGAR S. BROWN IS CALLED BY DEATH

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. for Edgar S. Brown, 67, of this city, who died suddenly yesterday in Bakersfield. The services will be held at the Harrell and Brown chapel with the Rev. Harry E. Owens, officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mr. Brown, who had lived in Santa Ana for the past 15 years, was in Bakersfield visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Monroe, when he was stricken. In addition to his daughter in Bakersfield, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Olive J. Brown, another daughter, Mrs. T. D. Downs, of Arvin, Calif., a three brothers, Elwood Brown, Dennison, Kan., Maxwell Brown, Bunker Hill, Kan., J. H. Brown, Tukeka, Kan., and one sister, Mrs. Bert McKnight of Collier, Kan.

trial expansion of the so-called "Des Moines plan," originated by Commissioner Studebaker when he was superintendent of schools at Des Moines, Iowa.

Commissioner Studebaker has called Henderson twice by long-distance telephone to propose the plan, and they expect to discuss it more definitely when they meet in St. Louis, Henderson said today. The convention extends from February 22 to 27.

The lectures, if arranged, would be of the forum type, with panel discussions, said Henderson.

BOARD NAMES SIDE BOTTOM NEW RECORDER

Efforts by agricultural leaders of the county to procure consolidation of the county recorder's office with some other department, instead of appointing a new recorder to fill the vacancy impending March 1 with the retirement of Justice Whitney, failed to prevent the county supervisors from appointing J. Fred Sidebottom, of Anaheim, to the post late yesterday.

After hearing arguments for consolidation from leaders of the county farm bureau and the newly formed grange, against whom were arrayed a group of women requesting appointment of a woman as recorder, the supervisors took the matter under advisement at the morning session, until 3 p. m.

At that hour, when the matter was again brought up, Supervisor Leroy Lyon, of Placentia, moved the appointment of Sidebottom. The motion was passed with only one vote, that of Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, recorded against it. West had expressed favor for the appointment of some woman candidate.

Sidebottom, formerly county sealer of weights and measures, has been local representative of the state board of equalization for the past year.

SHERIFF ASKS AID IN FIGHT ON VAGRANTS

Pointing an accusing finger at neighboring county officials who have been reported using Orange county as a dumping grounds for unwanted transients, Sheriff Logan Jackson today called upon all citizens of the county to report to the sheriff's office the license numbers and descriptions of automobiles or trucks used in hauling the transients into the county.

"It is not being good neighbors for another county to dump unwanted transients here," the sheriff declared, "and I wish to obtain the license numbers and descriptions of these cars or trucks so that we may conduct an investigation and find out who is responsible. I wish to contact these persons who practice such dumping."

A substantial citizen of Orange county reported to the sheriff that he saw a Los Angeles county truck, bearing an "E" license, stop at the Orange county-Los Angeles county line near Northam and Buena Park recently and unload a dozen or more men who carried bedding and other traveling equipment.

Patrol Started
Today Sheriff Jackson sent out three cars to cover the county areas in the vicinity of the county lines with instructions to order incoming transients who are here for no particular purpose and who are merely "on the road," to continue on their way. The deputies operating the three cars found 10 transients by noon today and ordered them to keep going.

"We want to be entirely neighborly in Orange county," the sheriff declared, "and we are perfectly willing to handle the problems which might arise from transients which normally are found hereabouts. However, if we have something we do not want, it is not a remedy to dump what we do not want into some other county, which will only create a larger problem in that other county."

"The transient problem belongs to the national government and I believe the national government should come forward with some solution of the problem. The mere fact that a man is broke doesn't brand him as a criminal and we should help a man when he is down rather than kick him."

"We do expect to take such necessary means, however, as will protect the county against any troublesome influx of transients but we will do it legally. We are ordering these transients dumped into our midst to continue on, but we shall not dump them wholesale into other counties."

Rock Pile Method
Asked if he would take steps to recommend establishment of a rock pile for transients arrested in county territory for vagrancy, in a manner similar to that promised by Santa Ana's police commissioner, Plummer Bruns and Santa Ana's chief of police, Floyd W. Howard, yesterday, the sheriff declared "that will be entirely up to the board of supervisors, and if the board decides upon such a program I shall give it my entire cooperation."

"The rock pile is no new program for Orange county," he said, "and was used here with success many years ago. At present, we take care of many prisoners through assigning them to the laundry at the county hospital and to the county park, and many are employed in keeping the jail itself in a clean condition."

Officer V. G. Wolfe of Orange police department today reported that he, too, has been contacted by Orange county citizens who witnessed the dumping of numerous transients from official Los Angeles county trucks, near Buena Park. It was admitted that Orange county has many more transients within its borders at present than is normal.

Chief of Police Howard of Santa Ana today declared plans are going forward for establishment of a rock pile on some vacant city lots where it is planned to construct a high, iron-wire fence, topped with barbed wire. City Judge J. G. Mitchell has agreed to send those convicted of vagrancy or reckless or drunk driving, to the fenced enclosure to work on the rock pile, before the public gaze.

Police News
William C. Thomas, 33, San Diego man arrested Monday for failure to support a minor child, was rebooked at county jail today, to be held for Captain Davis of the 63rd Coast Artillery, San Diego, as a deserter from the United States Army.

EVANGELIST OPENS SERVICES IN S. A.

A splendid rainy weather audience last night enjoyed the unusual type of message presented by Evangelist Myron Sackett, in the first of a series of meetings being conducted at the Church of the Four-square Gospel. The subject "God Will Do a New Thing" was presented in a forceful manner, and stirred new enthusiasm in everyone present. The Rev. Mr. Sackett will speak nightly except Monday, and his subject tonight will be "The Very Last Sign Before Jesus Comes."

The evangelist has just returned from an evangelistic tour through Europe, spending three and a half months in Germany. Thursday night's subject will be "Come to Supper."

CALL FOR BIDS ON BONDS FOR HIGH SCHOOL

A block of $140,000 of the $223,000 Santa Ana high school bond issue voted last December 12, was advertised for sale late yesterday, when the county supervisors called for bids to be opened March 2.

While only $122,000 of the bond money would be needed for the district's 55-per cent share of the $223,000 building program, the additional bonds will enable the district to utilize more of the federal grant, of $148,000. This grant, it was explained, can be applied to providing such items as furniture and equipment, stage equipment and outside painting, which are not included in the contracts, and would otherwise have to be financed from the school budget and raised by direct taxation, it was pointed out.

The federal government Monday allocated the grant and a maximum $181,000 loan to the Santa Ana project. All of this will not be used, it was indicated. By using $140,000 of the loan, secured by the bonds, the district could claim $113,500 of the grant, instead of $101,000, which would represent 45 per cent of $223,000.

Three units of the high school group remain to be built. These are Block B, a classroom structure; Block C, the shop building, and Block E, the music, commercial and domestic science building.

Local Briefs

The rainfall gauge at the meteorological station of Santa Ana Junior college registered .84 inches at 4 p. m., yesterday, making the seasonal total 3.82 inches. Relative humidity at 4 p. m. was 95 per cent. Temperatures ranged from 59 at midnight to 61 at 2 to 3:30 p. m. Wind velocity averaged 3.5 m. p. h.

Condition of 12-year-old Raymond Caple, Santa Ana newsie of Route 4, Box 29, Santa Ana, who received fracture of left leg, compound fracture of right leg, cuts and bruises in a bicycle-automobile collision Monday evening in the 1600 block on West Sixth street, remained the same at Orange county hospital today, according to reports from hospital attendants. He was reported "doing as well as can be expected."

Steve Hall, San Bernardino man who said he was injured in a Fullerton automobile accident yesterday, was given first aid treatment at Orange county hospital for forehead and hand lacerations, according to records on file today. He was able to go to his home following treatment.

George M. Gurnutt, 49, of Santa Ana, and Edith Meehan, 51, of Orange, have filed application for a marriage license in Riverside.

Henry Armstrong, 56, and Minnie McCracken, 71, both of Doheny Park, have applied for a marriage license in San Diego.

FURTHER RAIN EXPECTED FROM CLOUDY SKIES

Cloudy skies today held out hope for additional rainfall that would increase the total for the 36-hour storm that has soaked Orange county. The rain yesterday and Monday night was spotty in its intensity registering 170 inches in Placentia and a low total of .72 of an inch in Laguna Beach.

For the 24 hours ending at 7:30 a. m. today in Santa Ana the rainfall was .37 of an inch making the storm total .84 of an inch. Rainfall for the past 24 hours in Placentia was .80 of an inch. The heaviest fall for the last 24 hours, however, was in Brea where 1.22 inches fell to bring the storm total to 1.57 inches and the seasonal total up to 6.44 inches.

Farmers claim that this rain, like the one of last week, was of great value to agriculture as it well gently but steadily allowing fall gently but steadily allowing earth.

DENIES GUILT IN TRAFFIC DEATH CASE

Held for trial in superior court on two counts of negligent homicide, in connection with the traffic deaths of Miss Frances West, Newport Beach school teacher, and Winston Walker, of Santa Ana, Richard Parr, of Santa Ana, went before Superior Judge James L. Allen late yesterday and pleaded not guilty. Trial was set in that department for February 19.

Parr's preliminary hearing, started last week, was completed yesterday in justice court at Costa Mesa before Justice D. T. Hayden, of Tustin, presiding in the place of Justice Donald Dodge. The court ordered Parr held to answer, under $5000 bail.

The crash between Parr's car and that occupied by Walker and Miss West occurred near Costa Mesa on Newport avenue last December 15.

Deputy District Attorney Eugene Walker conducted the prosecution.

BOARD ORDERS TAX REFUNDS OF $1092

County taxes aggregating $1092.74 were ordered refunded to five Orange county property owners by the county supervisors, on recommendation of Assessor James Sleeper because taxes covering the property already had been paid to the state by public utility corporations leasing the premises.

The refunds approved by the supervisors were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Whitfield of Los Angeles, owners of three parcels of property at Huntington Beach, $75.24, $51.05 and $69.96; Persis H. Almsworth, Orange, two parcels, $52.65 and $37.08; Charles W. Smith, Santa Ana, two parcels, $238.08 and $205.69; Bank of America, Santa Ana, two parcels, $153.29 and $148.59; Margaret D. Baxter, Placentia, three parcels, $21.99, $13.88 and $29.26.

England's first coffee house was operated by a man named Jacobs in Oxford in 1650.

Possibility that the men themselves carried the bills out when they were released was discounted. This indicated a civilian within the penitentiary was involved.

themselves when they found that each man at some time during detention either had access to the print shop and engraving plant or had been employed there. The belief was strengthened when Frank Sykes, president of the state prison board, and Warden James B. Holohan discovered one of the bogus notes inside the prison.

After completing their case to its present status, however, officers reached temporary stalemate. They had been unable to determine how the bills were smuggled from the prison.

Possibility that the men themselves carried the bills out when they were released was discounted. This indicated a civilian within the penitentiary was involved.

EXECUTIVES AND DIRECTORS ARE ELECTED

Final steps in organization of the Orange County Republican Assembly were completed last night at a dinner meeting in James' cafe.

Two vice presidents and 10 directors, for the 74th Assembly district, of the club, were elected.

The two vice presidents elected were: Leslie Kimmell, of Laguna Beach, and Gordon X. Richmond, of Orange.

Directors elected were: H. P. Harrison and Franklin West, Santa Ana; Dick Jones and Carl Schroeder, Orange; LeRoy Anderson, Costa Mesa; A. B. Rouselle, Newport Beach; C. C. Burnett, Laguna Beach; Carl Hankey, San Juan Capistrano; Thomas Murphy Jr., San Clemente, and M. B. Wellington, of Tustin.

Aside from the election of vice presidents and directors the only business transacted were reports on the recent convention in Santa Barbara. Reports of the party were given by Albert Launer, Kimmell and E. M. Sundquist.

The 75th district organization was formed several days ago at Anaheim.

SUPERVISORS SELL BEACH CITY LOTS

Sale of 213 "oil lots" at Huntington Beach yesterday at $1 per lot was a new form of "dollar day."

But that kind of real estate bargain was just another sample of the "unusual" in California.

The lots, which had previously been seized for unpaid taxes as relics of an ill-fated oil promotion scheme, were sold by the county supervisors to adjacent property owners at the best bid available, in order to get them back on the county tax rolls and again paying their share of tax revenues. They form the second batch of such lots reclaimed for the tax rolls.

The purchasers yesterday were: Frank Harris, 96 lots; F. M. Packard, 55 lots; R. M. Dochins, 62 lots.

FAMOUS WOMAN FLIER TELLS FASCINATION AND BEAUTY OF OCEAN HOP TO S. A. AUDIENCE

By VIRGINIA FRITCHER

Amelia Earhart spanned the air waves last night in a four minute address directed to New York via a nation wide hookup which originated in Santa Ana Ebell clubhouse lounge. Several minutes later a capacity audience in the auditorium spanned the Pacific with her as she re-enacted that dramatic episode in aviation's history—the flight from Honolulu to Oakland last year.

The flier appeared under the auspices of Ebell society, whose president, Mrs. F. C. Rowland introduced her. Miss Earhart's publisher-husband, George Putnam and Dick Grace, motion picture stunt flier, were present.

For her broadcast which preceded the local program, Miss Earhart joined in ceremonies dedicating a new museum of art and industrial science in New York. Marconi and Einstein were among others speaking over the same nation wide hookup. If these two famed scientists could describe their work as clearly as Miss Earhart did her last night, general conception of scientific values no doubt would expand greatly.

Forceful and Clear

But few words used by the speaker would not be found in the vocabulary of the very young boy or girl—and there were many children in the audience. There were no technical terms to detract from the clear picture of flying. The flier's simplicity but beauty of speech seemed typical of her personality. Desires to accomplish, to add to the fundamental background of aviation, both were included in her answers as to why she and women generally should fly. Not once did she express a thrill over the flying itself.

The audience thrilled with her while she created a vivid picture of a lone figure flying from Honolulu to Oakland. All the while, Miss Earhart described the beauty of flying; of the contrast of white clouds in moonlight and starlight against a black sea; of a day's brilliant dawning, fearful but fascinating eight thousand miles above the earth. "The lure of flying is the lure of beauty," she said.

Preparation Important

Declaring that two-thirds of the success of any expedition is in preparation, the speaker said that all worrying should be done two or three months in advance of the flight. Results desired and possible dangers should be weighed, and if the goal is not worth the dangers involved the proposed trip should be given up she pointed out.

Extra precautions which she took in preparing for her flight from the Islands to California were outlined as she explained that strong public criticism as to plans for the flight made her somewhat fearful. In making her Atlantic solo flight in 1932 she had taken few of these protective measures despite the fact that "the Atlantic ocean offers the flier one chance out of ten as against the Pacific's 50-50 odds."

As to when she will take another long airplane flight Miss Earhart declined to say other than that she will be happy to make definite arrangements when a new airplane for her is a reality. Her famous red and silver monoplane now is a charter ship carrying passengers from Burbank airport it was explained.

Aviation — "The most beautiful mode of transportation which man has yet devised"—was propounded as a sensible means of travel which commands a safety record. Drawing on statistics she stated that travel by air at the rate of 150 miles plus is safer than highway travel at the rate of 40 miles per hour.

Autograph seekers were told to write to her at Union Air Terminal Burbank.

Formally Gowned

Amelia Earhart boyishly graceful in figure and alert in feature revealed an ultra-feminine personality last night. In formal evening gown worn with mannishly tailored white jacket she seemed an intelligent but unsophisticated little girl thoroughly enjoying her evening. She spoke of her husband and told a few jokes at his expense; singled him out of the audience and addressed a few words to him; called for general questions and answered them with amazing directness and simplicity.

She flies "just because it is my own wish to do so" as it has been since she went up in a plane with Frank Hawks who was barnstorming. She gave up plans for a medical career and worked for the Los Angeles Telephone company to pay for her first course in aviation. Like all fliers she explained she is too busy controlling the plane to think about many other things when she is in the air and especially during the take-off.

Amelia does not like tea or coffee; drinks chocolate or tomato juice when in the air; enjoys being in her cozy little cockpit which is her own private world; laughs at mistaken identities in which she so often is involved. Strangers have told her that she looks like Mrs. Roosevelt like Lindbergh's mother like a famous swimmer and strangely enough that she "somewhat resembles Amelia Earhart."

DISCOUNTS BY GAS COMPANY GO IN EFFECT

Families in Orange county, as well as families throughout Southern California have placed themselves in a position to make substantial savings on their gas bills by filing applications with their nearest gas company office for the new gas schedule which becomes effective with meter readings on and after February 15.

It was announced today by Fred G. Merker, district manager of the Southern Counties Gas company.

Pointing out that the new discount cannot be granted until the application is received and accepted by the gas company, Merker urged those who have not yet filed their applications to do so immediately and take advantage of the new discount as soon as possible.

"On and after February 15 a discount of 15 per cent on that portion of monthly bills in excess of $2 and up to $25 will be given to domestic and commercial customers who use gas for the combined three purposes of cooking, automatic water heating and house or building heating, as specified in the schedule," Merker said.

Radio Amateurs Hear Discussion On Interference

The Orange County Amateur Radio club held its second meeting Monday night at the home of Vice President Nevin Otis, at Westminster, when 43 amateurs attended.

Stuart Dalton was the speaker, telling of causes of radio interference and how to prevent the interference. Earl Kent was chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by Thompson McNeal, Bob Horseman and Bill Mandy. John Willcutt was elected "driver of the clean-up crew."

Next meeting of the club will be held on February 24, according to Secretary Cecil Hamilton.

PRIVATE LINE FOR FORESTRY USE PLANNED

Construction of a private telephone line for the state forestry service, connecting its Yorba Linda headquarters with the new central headquarters now being constructed in Orange, was outlined before the county supervisors late yesterday by State Ranger Joe Scherman, the board approving a contribution of $250 of county funds toward the $2466 cost of the project.

The line would extend a distance of approximately seven miles, it was estimated, and would provide unbroken telephone communication from the Gilman peak lookout near Yorba Linda to the Orange headquarters. A private forestry line was constructed last year by the CCC from the peak lookout to Yorba Linda headquarters.

Instead of building the private line west three miles from Yorba Linda to Placentia, to connect with utilities service, it was decided to build the seven miles south, directly to Orange, and thus eliminate possible delays in obtaining connections through utilities service.

Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, was disposed to disapprove of the county expenditure, and suggested that it might be better to install a teletype system of communication. Supervisor Willard Smith pointed out that it would still be necessary, with teletypes, to construct a line, besides the cost of teletype machines. West finally voted for the appropriation.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG — News Behind the News —

By PAUL MALLON
Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon
PANGS
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—No one is permitted to look behind the tall red velvet curtains in the supreme court. Nor are there any holes in them worth setting your eye to.

But the sharp-eyed lawyers, knowing sign-language and having noted certain messenger activities lately, have figured it all out. They know the hidden explanation for the court's filibuster on the TVA decision, which has been delayed for two weeks beyond the usual time for such decisions.

Their hope is that the court decided the case by a vote in chambers several weeks ago. But justices designated to write the opinions have been having a hard job trying to express precisely the headline legal points involved. Their opinions have been rejected and rewritten time after time.

In other words, the pangs of authorship rather than of doubt have held things up.

TRIMMING?
The sign-detectives have deduced from this that the decision is probably against the government, but not decisively so (not like NRA and AAA). That is, they expect a headline legal definition which may trim many TVA activities but permit the basic main stem policy to be continued.

Such guesses are not guaranteed. The best lawyers before the court are almost equally divided in their expectations. Not much betting is being done.

FLUSTERED
The state department said both yes and no to reports that President Roosevelt was calling a Pan-American peace conference. It was flustered.

What happened was this: Assistant State Secretary Welles has been secretly sounding out Latin Americans on the idea. He pledged all the Latin diplomats to keep it under their hats. One fellow could not keep his hat on. This one let the story out before Mr. Welles found out whether all the nations would approve the project. The result is Mr. Welles is now holding the sack of peace in a more or less ferocious mood.

If Mr. Welles lays his hands on that certain diplomat (whose name is known) the Pan-American peace movement will probably get under way with a good murder.

DELICACY
The touchy part of the Welles proposal is that nations of this hemisphere would not only pledge themselves to arbitration and peace, but would cut off food and other supplies from any that went to war.

That is all right for self-sustaining nations like us, but some of the outstanding trouble-makers in this hemisphere are not self-sustaining.

CHIVALRY
The old gentlemen in the senate did not even take the trouble to slick up their hair when the second lady senator arrived. The only concession they have made to ladies in their exclusive club is that they look around to see if any are near before they start telling stories in the cloak room.

Mrs. Caraway has led a rather lonely and uneventful life as a senator from Arkansas. It is improbable that Mrs. Long's will be any different.

Many senators inwardly resent the presence of women, but are too chivalrous to say so. Also, they are too wary to bring up the question whether it is a sound public policy to appoint widows to public office. They wonder what would happen, however, if the new deal and the supreme court adopted that practice.

Note—Most senators agree Mrs. Caraway has been a more efficient senator than some of the male senators now sitting. However, that concession may not be as complimentary as it sounds.

She speaks seldom, has introduced no bills of major importance, has not been identified with any particular phase of legislation, looks up the votes of her husband to determine how she will vote whenever possible. Her voting record is considered shrewd.

NOTES
The supreme court decision on the freedom of the press was an exhaustive survey of that subject. It should be the No. 1 text for any student of that question for a long time to come.

The mystery of Justice Brandeis' unprecedented tardiness at the supreme court session ten days ago has now been cleared up. He rides to work in taxicabs and could not get one that day.

Few people know it, but John W. Davis was once offered a seat on the supreme bench and declined. He decided to make some money first. (The bench pays $20,000 a year, while he now receives that much in a single fee for a small case.) However, he will never get another chance. No senate would confirm him in view of his highly conservative reputation.

Highest Republicans here are skeptical of their chances of beating Senator Borah in Ohio. The technical trouble is that anyone who stands up to fight Borah in Ohio may injure his chance of getting the nomination, either by failing to win or by arousing the antagonism of Borah.

Considerable inside objection has arisen to the gossiped ticket of Landon and Wadsworth. The objection is active in upper New York state, where Wadsworth has some longstanding misunderstanding with the rural vote.

By RAY TUCKER

WEST
President Roosevelt, who prides himself on his political intuition, has set ideas on how his reelection campaign should be handled. They also dovetail with his deep conviction of the role his personally-led party should assume in national affairs.

In laying inner plans, F. D. R. advises his associates to look up the political pages which report the re-election of Woodrow Wilson. The President feels that every Democratic nominee since 1916 overlooked its lessons. Candidates Cox, Davis and Smith, he thinks, blundered in voicing their hear-ye's to conservative eastern interests. As far back as 1920, when he ran for the vice-presidency, he named the south and west as the logical battle-grounds. But the big battles wouldn't listen to the inexperienced youngster from New York.

Mr. Roosevelt hasn't crossed off the East from his private battle-map. He feels sure of carrying New York and he has been told that he has a chance in several New England states. But he makes the point that the Democrats can't out-conservative the G. O. P. and shouldn't attempt the act. With the south solid despite Kirby-Talmadge, no-stumblings, the President will go west for progressive votes.

JOKERS
An apparently innocent, clause hidden in the pending neutrality measure would prevent the United States from remaining strictly neutral if a world war broke out within a year, although that prospect happens to be the inside reason for haste in changing the peace-and-war rules.

Section 16 provides that if any of the new neutrality provisions run counter to existing commercial treaties, the President "shall" negotiate to set aside these obstacles. Roughly, these agreements guarantee that the signatories shall not discriminate against one another in matters of trade, etc. But if a foreign government preparing for war—Hitler or Mussolini—declares to clear the track for embargoes on raw materials and credits, all it has to do is to refuse to confer. It Duce has done that very thing with respect to negotiation of a reciprocal tariff agreement. He won't budge. Then there is nothing the U. S. can do except to terminate the treaties "in accordance with the terms thereof." But these agreements provide that they can be broken only after a year's notice has been given. During that period there would be no legal method for barring war supplies to those who had the money to buy them.

BIDS
The invitation of an indicted politician to a White House reception was one of those awkward accidents which happen in the very first of families. But the presence of a certain out-towner at the presidential dinner to the supreme court a few weeks ago caused sharp tongue-wagging among those in the know.

The head of an extremely profitable company whose books have fallen under federal scrutiny engaged a well-known political lawyer to handle its tangled affairs. There was comparatively nothing which the political-legal gentleman could do to earn his fee, as the inquiry has not progressed beyond the preliminaries, but the nervous client didn't realize that. He grew uneasy when he got no news from the Washington front.

Then there came an official-looking missive. It was an invitation to sup with the President on the night he entertained his friends on the high bench. The recipient was dazed and flattered but he can't make out why he was so honored. Almost the only persons he knows in Washington is his lawyer. In both cases the President was entirely ignorant of the invitation. These things are handled by secretaries and super-numeraries. Friends are often permitted to suggest names. But there will be a closer check hereafter.

DEMAND
There was nothing accidental about the arrangement which permits Harold Ickes to follow Eugene Talmadge on the speech-making program before the Noon-day club at Springfield, Ill. And it's a safe bet that home-town admirers of Abraham Lincoln will listen to more sizzling speeches than are usually delivered at this traditional celebration.

Mr. Ickes would speak last under the rules which govern precedence. A cabinet member outranks a mere governor except in the latter's own state, where the latter would take the bow. But Mr. Ickes stipulated that he would not perform unless he could go on after the Georgian, suspected by New Dealers of having formed an alliance with American Liberty leaguers. Mr. Ickes prepared a polite, formal address but he left Washington ready to throw it away and do some impromptu battling for "the boss."

The cabinet member was prompted to demand the clean-up position by persons close to the White House and the Democratic national committee.

MAIDS
A casual remark by J. P. Morgan dropped the neglected problem of domestic help into the middle of the front pages. But the news behind the news may not please the banker, who was arguing for higher taxes on the middle class.

Government economists are bold enough to differ from the financier. He set up a new "leisure class" when he said it consisted of all who could afford a maid and estimated the number at 30,000,000 families. They report that their researches disclose another sort of "leisure class." It's made up of women who have entered full-time or part-time domestic service because they have lost out in factories, offices and stores.

They have taken work as house servants for as little as $2 a week and sometimes for room-and-board. As a result, there are more maids now than there were in 1920. There were about 1,200,000 domestics then as against an estimate of 1,800,000 in 1925. Al-

Late News From Fullerton And Vicinity

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR COUNCIL GROUP

FULLERTON, Feb. 12.—When the individual really starts to think, he thinks in terms of the betterment of society rather than in terms of self. Dr. K. A. Sarafian said at the meeting of Fullerton International Relations council at the school cafeteria Tuesday night. His subject was "Comparative Education in Italy, Russia, Germany and the United States." A feature of the business meeting was election of new officers.

Otis LeRoss was selected to head the group. The vice president selected is Lloyd Verry; the secretary, J. Shaller Arnold; and the treasurer, Paul Egeler. S. W. McCulloch, retiring president, and Miss Anita Shephardson complete the board of directors. Dean W. T. Boyce of the Junior college made the report of the nominating committee.

"The essence of true education is to socialize the individual, to consider individual growth and development, and to transmit culture from generation to generation," he said. "Education is not just to store knowledge, but is for the purpose of releasing the personality of the individual."

"In Russia, in Germany and in Italy, education has reverted to placing the state first, the individual second, and is Spartan in doctrine. Real education is patterned after the Athenian design, and is liberal culture leading toward ideals of civilization."

Prior to his discussion, Bruce Clark talked on "Comparative Standards of Living" and said America has many standards, while the trends in Europe are toward defined classes.

HORN NEW HEAD OF CREDIT BUREAU

FULLERTON, Feb. 12.—Harry I. Horn was elected president of the Northern Orange County Credit

lowing for families which have first, second and third maids, it is probable that no more than 1,500,000 households have domestics. But Mr. Morgan was partially right. Families which could not pay 1930 wages can meet the deflated scale.

MEMENTO
Though few in the chamber noted it, the senate recently staged a session steeped in tragic irony. On a hot August day of 1935 Senator Huey Long killed the deficiency appropriation bill with his "last filibuster." From the Republican side of the aisle the only voice raised in reinforcement was that of the blind Senator Schall of Minnesota. They colleagues begged them not to block a measure which carried funds for the aged, widows and orphans.

When the bill came up in the senate a few days ago, the first amendment adopted appropriated $10,000 to "Rose M. Long, widow of the Honorable Huey P. Long, late a senator from the state of Louisiana." The second amendment authorized payment of a like amount to Margaret Huntley Scholl. It is the sum always awarded to the widow of a dead member of congress.

bureau at a meeting held at Hughes cafe Tuesday night. The principal speaker at the meeting was Vincent Eckdahl, of Los Angeles, who spoke on "Credit and Salesmanship."

New directors are Horn, Frank N. Gibbs, John Strickland and C. B. Rolander. Holdover directors are H. E. Smith, A. E. Schumacher and A. R. Volk.

J. F. Faulkner was retained as secretary-manager.

Lecturer Tells Bible Prophecy

FULLERTON, Feb. 12.—The admitted attempt of Mussolini to rebuild the Roman empire fits perfectly with Biblical prophecy, according to Dr. W. D. Herrstrom, radio lecturer, Bible student and author, who talked at the First Baptist church Brotherhood meeting at the church Tuesday night. The open meeting followed a dinner in the church dining room.

EDITOR NAMED COMMISSION IS NEW CHAIRMAN APPOINTED BY OF RED CROSS CITY COUNCIL

ANAHEIM, Feb. 12.—Fred Smith, editor of the Anaheim Gazette, was unanimously named chairman of the Anaheim chapter of the Red Cross for the coming year when the annual meeting, attended by 41 members, was held Tuesday night at the Pickwick cafe. Stephen Gallagher, retiring chairman, becomes a member of the executive board.

Miss E. Kate Rea, treasurer, reported receipts for the six months beginning with the fiscal year June 20, and ending January 1, as amounting to $687.56 and disbursements as totalling $351.79, leaving a balance in the treasury of $667.56.

R. W. Balch reported on the work of the county Red Cross and explained the employment and work of Mrs. Laura B. Warren, county secretary. He also told of the work of the first aid stations being established on the highways.

M. A. Gauer reported on the Junior Red Cross and announced that all but one of the elementary schools had a 100 per cent record membership and the entire teaching staff had contributed. Charles E. Griffith announced handling 27 cases through the home service department. Mrs. Mona Price reported on the civic relief work.

Officers besides Mr. Smith include Miss Dorothy Yungbluth, vice chairman, Miss Grace W. Bailey, secretary, and Miss E. Kate Rea, treasurer. Committee heads are Mr. Griffith, Mr. Gauer, Mrs. Price, Victor Ruedy, Dr. Harold Neslund, Ray Smith and James R. Bouldin. Also on the executive committee are R. W. Balch, the Rev. Virgil Ledbetter, George Reid, Mrs. John Burkhardt, N. H. White, Charles Pearson and Stephen Gallagher.

The pressure between automobile gear teeth is sometimes as great as 400,000 pounds to the square inch.

ANAHEIM, Feb. 12.—Reappointment of the city recreation commission, all members of which served in the same capacity last year, took place at last night's council meeting. The commission will meet at the call of Mrs. Robert Marvin, chairman last year. Members include Mrs. Marvin, Mrs. Arthur Kemper, Miss Elva Hasbargen, Arthur Shipkey, J. A. Claves, M. A. Gauer, Councilman M. W. Marten Jr., and Park Superintendent Rudy Boyesen.

J. E. Schumacher, whose term on the planning commission expires this month, was reappointed to that position. Warrants on the city treasury for the past two weeks amounted to $10,056.67, according to the finance committee. Of this amount $9494.12 was drawn on the general fund, $250.32 for meter deposit and $312.23 for the special gas tax and street improvement fund. There is now $168,417.17 in the city treasury, of which $135,257.16 is in the general fund.

Taxes collected by Miss Etta Williams during the month of January amounted to $1043.13. The city auditor showed accounts receivable, appropriations and miscellaneous balancing $869.19. Delinquent taxes collected by City Clerk Charles E. Griffith amounted to $402.05 for the month, while $6.55 was taken in from delinquent personal property taxes and $14 for vital statistics, totalling $422.60 through Mr. Griffith's office.

The public service department showed $13,728.87 derived from light, $3277.27 from power, $4524.75 for water and $22.76 for penalties, totalling $21,604.65 in revenue from the municipal electric system. Delinquencies in this department dropped for the month of January from $1428.48 to $1232.21, or in the amount of $196.22.

HOLD VALENTINE PARTY FOR FORUM

FULLERTON, Feb. 12.—More than 100 women attended the Woman's forum valentine party at the Presbyterian church Tuesday. It was an old-fashioned party and the theme of decorations carried out the general trend of the affair.

Miss Dorothy Brown, of San Pedro, a blind poetess, gave original readings. Mrs. F. J. Gobar and Miss Marjorie Allen presented a skit. Three pupils of Miss Dorothy Smeltzer, Marjorie Joann Clark, who played solos, and Barbara and Beatrice Boyce, who played duets, added to the program.

Miss Minnie Morse conducted an old-fashioned spelling bee. Mrs. Clara Ledtke gave a group of readings; Miss Lois Hollingsworth read a group of numbers; Mrs. Ben Switzer told of the origin of St. Valentine's day, and Mrs. A. C. Terrill discussed the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. G. Ames, Mrs. Victor Porter, in charge of program; Miss Grace Ginter, Mrs. Lloyd Fuller, Mrs. J. A. Frizer, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. C. R. W. Kohlenger, Mrs. Terrill, Miss Morse and Miss Suzanne Dean.

ern Pacific and affiliated companies marked the meeting of the council, with the result that the councilmen promised to take under consideration the request made by the Santa Fe company for the city's support of their application to the California Railroad commission for the privilege of operating buses in California.

HOW DO YOU KNOW YOU "CAN'T AFFORD" A BUICK?

WE GRANT you that Buick looks expensive—smart things usually do! We grant you a lot of people think of it in terms of a $1500 automobile because Buick used to cost all of that—and some still do.

But give us a chance, and we'll show you in cold figures how to own a Buick for little if any more than one of the lowest-priced cars would cost you.

We'll show you a big car with a small car operating cost. We'll show you roominess and comfort and safety, with a freedom from repair bills that makes costs-per-mile hit a new low. We'll show you how to get a luxury car—on a brass-tacks budget! There's no mystery to it—no trick figuring. Buick simply licked the problem of building first-class quality in a low-priced car. Now we've got some interesting figures that will change your ideas about automobile values.

Don't resign yourself to small-car comfort, small-car ability until you find out how very little per week it costs to own a Buick.

INTER-COUNTY 4-H MEET SET NEXT MONDAY

Orange county 4-H club leaders will go to Corona next Monday evening, February 17, to attend the Inter-County council of 4-H leaders. The meeting will open with a 6:30 dinner at the Methodist church in Corona. The Riverside 4-H leaders' council will be hosts. Leaders from four southern counties will attend.

The council business meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock and subjects to be discussed throughout the evening are parent cooperation in 4-H club work, and reports of the various county council presidents on the outline of club work in their respective counties for the coming year.

Arrangements have been made with the Lemon By-Products plant for all who wish to go through the plant starting at 5 o'clock, before the dinner meeting is held.

Santa Ana Baby In "Riffraff" At West Coast Now

A Santa Ana baby, grandson of Mrs. W. A. Flood, 1802 North Main street, made his film debut in "Riffraff," drama of the sea, which shows for the last times tomorrow night at the West Coast theater, it was learned today.

In the film the baby is "Oscar," but in real life he is the son of Mrs. Fern Flood Pixley, wife of J. Norman Pixley, both of Santa Ana who are now living in Glendale. The baby, 19 months old when the film was taken, is the son of Una Merkel in the film, appearing in the picture a number of times. The baby's name is David Flood Pixley, and he was born at 1802 North Main street.

Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy have the leading roles in "Riffraff," powerful drama of the sea.

SPANISH WAR VETS ENJOY SOCIAL EVENT

Members of Calumet camp and auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans assembled at the K. of C. hall last night for the double purpose of remembering the birthday of War President Abraham Lincoln and social card games following, with Commander James A. Randel and President Hazel Hall overseeing the program and Katherine Reagan having charge of the card games.

Past Department Commander Charles E. Dixon told of attending a noon-day luncheon as a guest of the Rotary club, representing the Spanish War Veterans, and listening to a splendid address by S. C. Hartman on President Lincoln.

There was some discussion about the many questions asked why the word "United" was used in the title of the organization and the explanation was given as follows: "Directly after the close of the Spanish-American war, many national societies of the soldiers of that war were organized and this resulted in the amalgamation in 1904 of three of them namely: National Army and Navy Spanish War Veterans, National Association Spanish-American War Veterans and the Service Men of the Spanish War. Soon afterward the Society of the Hispano-American War was admitted and in a few years the Legion of Spanish War Veterans and the Society of the Veteran Army of the Philippines joined with them. This will show why the word 'United' Spanish War Veterans was the choice of the amalgamating committees."

Charles E. Dixon won the card game prize.

Evangelist Will Give Patriotic Program Tonight

Another good audience greeted Evangelist Sylvester Sanford last night at the United Berthren revival.

The Rev. Mr. Sanford entertained with piano, accordion and musical saw selections. His sermon topic was in the form of a question—"What Are You Willing To Do?" He showed clearly how those who offer willingly their talents to the Lord are richly blessed.

Tonight there will be a children's demonstration of what they have learned in the children's meetings. A special patriotic musical program will be given by the evangelist. His sermon topic will be "A Nation's Past, Present and Future."

On Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a party for the children who have been in attendance at the afternoon meetings will be held at the church.

Gets $10 Fine For Installing Water Heater for Friend

It cost J. H. Pryor of 227 First street, Midway City, just $10 to do the favor of installing a hot water heater tank for a Santa Ana relative, he was sadly aware today.

Pryor, a plumber, was arrested on complaint of city plumbing inspector, Harry Crowe, for violation of the city plumbing ordinance after he failed to obtain necessary permit for installation of the tank. "I just didn't think much about it," Pryor told officers, "although I know permits are necessary for such installation." City Judge J. G. Mitchell fined him $25, suspending $15 of the fine. Pryor paid.

REGISTER HAS FAIR TICKETS AT LOW RATES

A limited number of special book tickets for the California Pacific International Exposition at San Diego, which reopens today, are available now for subscribers of The Register, it was announced today by Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin.

These tickets offer a $4 value for $2.50, Conklin said, and will be available to Register subscribers as long as the supply lasts.

The book contains five general admissions and five concession admissions. The concession admissions are for the Strange As It Seems, Old Globe Theater, Hollywood Secret, Panchon and Marco revue and Big Top Midget Circus concessions.

The books are also available at the local chamber of commerce offices.

For economy and convenience, visitors to the new Exposition may secure these combination souvenir tickets in book form. Each book contains five tickets. Each ticket combines one general admission to the Exposition and one admission to a leading concession.

The books are transferable and the admissions may be used at any time during the 211 days of the Exposition. Buyers of the books save 37 1-2 per cent.

BABIES EXAMINED

COSTA MESA, Feb. 12.—Sixteen babies were examined at the Woman's clubhouse Monday afternoon by Dr. Edward Lee Russell, of the county health department, at the regular monthly Well Baby clinic arranged by the child welfare department of the Friday afternoon club in conjunction with the county health office. Miss Ruth Richards, nurse from the department in charge of the harbor area, assisted. Mrs. D. J. Dodge, child welfare chairman of the local club, was in charge.

Traffic Charge Fines Are Paid

Two speeders pleaded guilty and were fined $8 each and a third, R. F. McMahon, 3445 Twelfth street, Riverside, pleaded not guilty and was ordered to appear here for trial on February 25, according to records on file today in City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court.

Dick S. Heffern, 723 Zeyn street, Anaheim, paid $5 of an $8 speeding fine, agreeing to pay the rest by March 8. Ernest C. Kennedy, 3035 Santa Anita avenue, Alhambra, paid $8 for speeding. One dollar each was paid for illegal parking by H. Dean Collier, Mr. McWhorter, C. C. Nise and C. W. Hoyle, and subcontractors incorporated paid $3 on three over-time parking tickets.

CHAPTER 1

Jane Weston heard the cold wind and aet beating against the panes as she dialed the Central Employment Bureau again. She said in a tired monotone, "Miss Weston calling," and glanced at the office clock.

It was 11:30. Every day for 30 days, while she was at this temporary job in the Oceanic Magazine office, Jane had called the same number. Regent 3000. Regent 3000. The sing-song refrain buzzed in her mind.

And each time, as now, she had received the same reply. "Sorry. No call for you yet, Miss Weston."

Jane sighed and put down the telephone. She began to type again. It was a relief from thinking about herself.

Or was it? It was maddening, counting off the hours from eight to six. A good, steady job that absorbed her was what Jane wanted. For more than a year she had taken anything—typing, holiday clerking, switchboard work, anything she could get. She couldn't admit defeat; she couldn't go back to that little middlewestern town until she had found what she had been looking for when she set out alone for the city.

Back in Indiana Jane had been a girl of high, keen spirit. She was the middle child in a family of five and had neither the intense self-reliance of the first-born or the home-loving content of the last-born. She wanted to see things and do things that were beyond the ken of her companions in the town. And Jane was practical. When she wanted a thing, she went after it.

In the midst of the final letter in her wire basket, she looked up and saw Dickie Landon grinning at her. Dickie was no more than a glorified office boy, at his first job. He had tried to date her every day for a month.

"Have you ever been to Coney Island in the winter?" Dick asked. "That's the best time. No crowds, no hot dogs, just the long sweep of the ocean and—"

"And a breeze so cold it'll freeze the marrow in your bones," she replied. "No, thank you. I'll take a cruise to the South Seas on a luxury liner."

She smiled knowingly, for she had just typed a letter to a very wealthy woman who had written the travel editor of the magazine, asking about cruises to the South Seas.

"Aw, come on," Dick begged.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEM-ROID—to relieve itching, bleeding or protruding piles. This internal medicine acts quickly even in old stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it helps to heal and restore the affected parts and relieves blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting often fail. All druggists say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must relieve you of your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

"Just this time. You're no killer for looks, Jane, but you knock the shine off the others in this building. I ought to know. I've tried to date them all."

Jane flushed a little, but she smiled at Dick's naivete. He was as open and frank in his observations as a child.

Nevertheless she paused in her work long enough to glance at her image in the wall mirror. She had dark-brown eyes and a pert, cushioned mouth. Her reddish hair was set in smooth waves away from a high, white forehead. She had never thought of herself as being especially pretty, but there were plenty of young men who turned around to look after her when she passed on the street.

At this moment there came the faint sound of a ship's horn from the river. Jane glanced quickly toward the window which overlooked the shipping at the piers. Far down she could see the tugboats nosing a giant liner, like a sleek greyhound, out into the water.

Streamers of white paper hung from the stern of the ship, and faintly Jane could hear the noise of the sailing. She could see the black throng on the pier-head, waving handkerchiefs to the people on board the departing cruise ship.

She stood up and tried to distinguish people on board the ship, but they were too far away. The ship steamed down the bay, carrying those people to life, color and safety on tropic seas.

"Down to the sea in ships," escaped Jane's lips. Then she sighed.

"Huh! It's one of those cruises to nowhere," Dick Landon scoffed. "I'll bet they don't have any more fun than we had on the Show Boat last summer. We used to go up the river and back all in one night."

But Jane didn't hear him. She picked up a newspaper and turned to the steamship columns. "The S. S. Orinoco sails today at noon with 440 on board. Among the passengers are Prince Raoul d'Espigny; Jack Fields, international tennis star; the Earl of Abington; Lola Martinez, the danseuse; and Alberto Grandi, the tenor."

From somewhere Jane conjured up the sight of a romantic Italian baritone who sat on the deck under the stars and murmured a lot of nonsense about the moonlight and kisses on Lake Como to her—Jane Weston. Or there was a bronzed young man with blond hair and blue eyes on the sun deck of this ship who asked her if she'd like to go for a swim in the Pompeian Room which was luxurious and smelled like bath salts all the time.

The buzzer on Jane's desk brought her back from her reverie. Dickie Landon said, "Hey, wake up! Jerry, the boss, is calling you."

But Jane had heard. She had already picked up her dictation pad and was on the way, smiling and alert.

She found Jerry Seal hunched up at his desk. He was tusseling his brown hair and when he looked up, his eyes seemed tired.

"I'm sorry to spring this on you," he said. "As I told you when you came, the job was temporary. Today I'm forced to tell you the magazine is suspending publication. After today your services will no longer be required. Nor will mine," he added gloomily, "as soon as I untangle the business end of it."

Jane dreamed of strange foreign lands . . . romantic nights under a southern moon . . . star light, the scent of jasmine . . . and a handsome baritone murmuring nonsense—

Jane thought about Jerry Seal's wife and two youngsters and for a moment didn't think about losing her own job. Tears came to her eyes. They were the tears she had been holding back all day. She gripped her chair hard, but she couldn't keep Jerry from seeing her wet eyes.

He smiled in his friendly, robust way. "I know it's tough. Look here—take some time off this afternoon and scout around the agencies for a new job. I'm going to lunch now with the publisher."

Jane stood up and thanked him. Then she went back to the outer office, put on her hat and coat and left the building.

A cold wind was blowing in from the river and instinctively Jane drew her coat closer about her. She turned up her collar and began to walk. "I've got to save carfare," she confided to herself. "Besides, most of the employment agencies are close together in the downtown business district."

But she soon found the walking difficult in the slush. The icy wind cut her face and her gashes were sudden and heavy. From a corner drug store, she called her roommate at the walk-up "room with cooking facilities" they shared.

"I'm down town making the rounds of the agencies," Jane said. "I'm through at the office; there isn't any more job. Won't you come down and share my misery this afternoon."

Alice said, "Have you had your lunch?"

"No."

"Well, you little idiot, go to Kramer's on Canal street and order some hot food. And wait for me there."

Jane left the booth and entered the little white-table-top restaurant with its pleasant smells of vegetable soups and pastries. She sat down at a table before the window and ordered a bowl of clam chowder.

She and Alice had often made the rounds together. Alice wanted a steady job, too, but had found nothing except spare typing jobs to do. There was something disheartening about entering a crowded employment bureau alone, but, together, Jane and Alice sailed into the agencies, one after the other, with chips up and spirits soaring. Employment managers liked to see them come in. The harassed managers always said, "Nothing for you two girls today. But I'm looking out for you. Come again tomorrow."

Someone had left a newspaper at the table and Jane picked it up to look at the "help wanted" section. But, with a sigh, she put it down. It was the same old story, nothing in her line.

But a headline caught her eye. "Sardine Prince Visits America." Below was a picture of a blond, smiling, personable Scandinavian youth, aged 21, who was making his first visit to the United States. He was the son of a wealthy packer of—curiously enough—sardines. He was in this country to make a study of his father's business interests.

He was too handsome, Jane thought idly, scanning his features. The young man was quoted as saying, "I'm crazy about American girls. I might marry one before I go home. Who knows?" And for moments Jane stared at nothing.

She transferred her thoughts to words as her roommate, Alice, sat down at the table, ordering a cup of coffee.

"Where do girls meet men like that?" Jane asked, pointing out the smiling male personage. "Certainly not in an office! There's Jerry, who's worried sick about his own wife and two kids, and Dickie, the office boy, and—"

"Dreaming again!" Alice commented drily. "Why must you pick out a sardine prince to yearn after? What you want is a job!"

When Jane didn't answer, Alice went on pitthly. "You meet men like that on shipboard—taking a cruise to here, there and yonder. They and the fishes don't inhabit dry land. That's how close we'll ever get to one."

It is Folly . . . to Hope for More than you Pay for

For the man who desires to pay less for his car than the cost of La Salle, we have no advice to offer. There are many good and worthy cars in the price range below La Salle. But to the man who wants and prefers the advantages that only a fine car can give—we have a sincere word of warning: Quality gives way to Price—and necessarily so—when you move to the lower ranges. It is folly to hope for more than you pay for! To get La Salle style, quality and performance, you must buy a La Salle. There is no substitut

Paris says — Evening dresses are long, touching the floor in front or raised at the hemline to show the tips of your newest evening slippers; skirts are draped, and pleats and tucks are more important than ever.

THE WEAVING SHOP, 1619 N. Main. Here's a brand new idea for a different kind of valentine. Why not give "Her" a gift that will last. A hand-woven linen towel — a set of cocktail napkins, or a dainty scarf. Lucile Burlew will also soon be featuring her Hand-woven material for spring dresses. Why not call 2957-W for details, or better yet, drop in and see her.

HOME CAFE, 304 N. Broadway. Take the family out to dinner on Saturday evening. The HOME CAFE specializes in "meals served family style." And the price is only 60c. Why not give yourself a treat and the family, too, by taking them to this popular cafe? It will really be money in your pocket by eating here.

Because glamour and richness are the key-notes of style this year, you can afford to be a little frivolous with your hats. Little straight brims, larger rolling Bretons or amusing little affairs that turn right up in the air like a saucer; all are smart and stimulating for spring.

CLAUSEN'S, 410 West Fourth St. "Better lights make better sight." Our new improved INDIRECT FLOOR LAMPS combine every feature of light-saving light, and at the same time provides the light needed for comfort seeing—minus shadows. Lamps include 3-way switches. Special at $6.35, at CLAUSEN'S.

THE CALIFORNIA PATIO POTTERY, 414 W. Fourth Street. is introducing an entirely new line of pottery in addition to their other well-known products. Balbriggan pajamas, Trejur brassieres, hose priced from 59c to $1.00 in all weights, and all other types of lingerie at reasonable prices.

NUMBER SEVEN SIGNIFICANT IN LINCOLN'S LIFE

The number "7" was of unusual significance in Abraham Lincoln's life, according to Dr. Louis A. Warren, director of the Lincoln National Life Foundation at Fort Wayne, Indiana, who discovered the fact while making a compilation of unique bits of Lincoln history. Lincoln spent seven years in Kentucky, seven years in rural Illinois, seven years in the District of Columbia, two times seven years in Indiana and three times seven years in Springfield, Illinois. He was elected to public office by the people seven times. Four times to the legislature of Illinois, once to congress, and twice president of the United States.

Other "believe it or not" about Lincoln uncovered by Dr. Warren included:

"During Lincoln's presidency there were five ex-presidents living, more than at any other time in the history of the country. These were Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan."

Invented Devices

"Abraham Lincoln was an inventor. He patented a device to lift vessels over shoals when grounded."

"There are six transcriptions of the Gettysburg Address, all in Lincoln's own hand—all different in some minor particulars."

"Abraham had 12 different occupations during his lifetime. He was a farmer, woodsman, boatman, carpenter, clerk, soldier, merchant, postmaster, surveyor, lawyer, representative, congressman and a president."

"There are more heroic bronze statues of Lincoln than of any other man that has ever lived. The latest, 'Abraham Lincoln, the Hoosier Youth,' which portrays him at 21 years of age and which was erected on the plaza of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company building, is the youngest Lincoln ever sculptured."

Clean The Acids From Bowels and Stomach; Feel Fine Tomorrow!

Mosby's Tablets Are Helping Thousands by Clearing Away the Poisonous Bowel and Stomach Acid That Causes Gas, Bloating, Headache, Sleepless Nights and Constipation—Try Them for One Cent a Day.

Are YOU one of the millions being robbed of rightful health and strength by bowel and stomach acid? Science has learned that poisonous acid daily accumulates in the bowels and stomachs of many modern people. You may be one of them! Therefore, read this announcement.

ALWAYS CONSTIPATED

Victims of this "modern scourge" scarcely know what is wrong with them. They can't digest food properly, swell with gas after meals, spit up hot, strong, acidulous liquids, have skin eruptions, coated tongue, thick, bad taste and foul breath, can't sleep right, are head-achy, worn out and — ALWAYS CONSTIPATED. They have all the symptoms of common "bowel and stomach disorder." But "doctoring" for "bowel and stomach disorder" seldom brings benefit, because ordinary bowel and stomach medicines do not reach the acidous root of this trouble. So these discouraged, forlorn people continue to suffer—wondering why all medicines fail them—why they have to be sick continually—why they can't feel well like normal men and women.

Such suffering people will now find—in MOSBY'S TABLETS—a certain measure of RELIEF! These tablets FIGHT bowel and stomach ACID. And they also contain the finest ingredients known to Science for relief of bowel and stomach trouble IN GENERAL.

MELT IN STOMACH

MOSBY'S TABLETS melt in the stomach immediately after taking and the melted tablet substance neutralizes all acid with which it comes in contact. At once there is a feeling of extreme relief in the stomach organs. Within 10 minutes the gas starts leaving you. Shortly, all bloating, swelling and pain is gone.

This benefit comes from ONE TABLET. A course of the tablets—three to seven weeks—has a positively amazing effect. If you are a victim of indigestion, gas, swelling, bloating, upset stomach, spitting up of food and liquids, etc., you should, by all means, try this medicine.

MOSBY'S TABLETS also are laxative. They contain a combination of bowel-cleansing ingredients not often found even in specially prepared Bowel Compounds. They sweep the bowels REALLY CLEAN and bring out old, black, acidous substance, so terribly foul smelling that it will drive you in haste from the bath room! Then headaches, skin eruptions, worn-out feeling and sleepless nights—due to acidous bowel congestion—come to a quick end.

COST IS SMALL

These tablets were created—and are being introduced in this city—by Gilbert H. Mosby, acknowledged leader of the Drug Manufacturing World, whose discoveries in the past have benefited more than 20,000,000 people.

SUFFERERS! Don't go on feeling worn out, head-achy, miserable. Get Mosby's Tablets—TODAY—and feel fine—TOMORROW! Cost of the tablets is small—little more than one cent a day for the FULL COURSE!

Sold in this city at McCoy's Two Drug Stores, 104 E. Fourth and 302 W. Fourth; and by McCoy's Drug Stores in Whittier, Balboa and Huntington Beach and by all good druggists.—Adv.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By PAUL HARRISON, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12.—There has been a boom in the extra business lately, because several major studios have been shooting big scenes requiring lots of people. Numbers of extras hired have ranged from 1200 to 1500 a day.

But I hope that nobody stops reading here, and grabs his hat and begins thumbing his way to Hollywood. It's just as difficult as ever to crash the movies. In fact, harder.

Unless a newcomer has obvious talent and is of an especially desirable type, he won't even be registered by Central Casting corporation, the agency maintained cooperatively by the principal studios.

And for the 12,416 registered extras there are no more jobs, over a year's average, than there have been in the past. Based on averages, only about 120 can expect to earn as much as $25 a week during 1936. Eleven hundred altogether can expect to earn $480 each during the entire year. You can write your own estimate of what will happen to the remaining 11,196.

This is only a part of what Central Casting itself has described as a tragic situation. The agency repeatedly warns people not to come to Hollywood with any idea of entering the movies, unless they have some other sure means of livelihood.

More and More Competition

For in addition to the 12,416 registered extras, there are 11,500 bit players, who, if they cannot get work in minor parts, are willing and anxious to accept extra work. These latter persons, mind you, are all players who at one time or another have received screen credit. They're genuine actors and actresses, and some have been famous.

But these are not all. At least 10,000 more people are available for mob and atmosphere work, and racial groups. About 35,000 men, women and children, exclusive of contract stars and featured players—are trying to make a living from the movies.

At this writing 318 stars and featured players are under contract to major studios. To support these in film productions, an average of 253 performers is engaged each day from the screening group. And from the ranks of the extras, an average of 502 is employed. About 250 atmosphere crowd and racial types usually get jobs.

Too Much "Talent"

All of which indicates that Hollywood now has a surplus of perhaps 20,000. It is a good figure to remember the next time you read wails from publicity-minded executives that the screen capital needs fresh faces and new talent. Most casting directors declare that what they need is blooming young talent of the contract type.

They do not need extras or bit players. Nine months ago, in fact, the Cal bureau, maintained by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, closed its registration lists of bit players who have received screen credit.

MRS. PYLE HOSTESS

SMELTZER, Feb. 12.—A turkey dinner was given for the 1931 Matrons' association of the Eastern Star by Mrs. Minnie Pyle at her attractive ranch home recently, with the afternoon devoted to sewing and visiting. A valentine motif, with the color scheme in red, was used by the hostess at the dinner table.

Present were Mrs. Lena Heaston, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Marie Mallott, Buena Park; Mrs. Grace Wilson, Mrs. Amber Burke and Mrs. Elizabeth Kloe, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Maude Swett, Los Angeles; Mrs. Hazel Francis, Yorba Linda, and Mr. and Mrs. Pyle.

TRUSS EXPERTS HERE

The Rice Truss Experts, personal representatives of William S. Rice, Inc., Adams, N. Y., will be at the Santa Ana Hotel, Santa Ana, Calif., Thursday, Feb. 13. Every ruptured man, woman and child should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Rice Method for Rupture is known the world over. You can now see this method demonstrated and have a Rice Appliance fitted to you. Absolutely no charge unless you are satisfied to keep the Outfit after having the Appliance adjusted and you see how perfectly and comfortably it holds. No harsh, deep-pressure springs; nothing to gouge the flesh and make you sore. Can be worn night and day with positive comfort. Soft, rubber-like composition pad, any degree of pressure required.

Don't wear a truss all your life when thousands have reported the recovery through using the Rice Method. Why suffer the burden of rupture if there is a chance to be free from truss-wearing forever? Anyway, it will cost you nothing to come in and learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful opportunity for help it offers in your case. Just ask at hotel desk for the Rice Representatives and they will do the rest. Hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 evenings. Don't miss this great opportunity to see these Experts.

S. A. DOGS IN KENNEL EVENT AT PASADENA

Santa Ana will be represented by a number of pure bred dogs in competition at the Pasadena National Midwinter Dog Show next Saturday and Sunday, in the Crown City's Civic auditorium.

Residents of this city, with the breeds they have entered, include Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Latham, Route 1, Box 67, colliers; Mrs. Hazel Goudy, Route 1, Box 5, collier; Charles F. Randall, 1502 North Sycamore avenue, collier; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Moore, Jr., 1326 West Washington avenue, cocker spaniel; Lucretia Pomeroy, 718 South Broadway, Cairn terrier; Mrs. C. J. Fleming, 2414 Bonnie Brae avenue, Doberman pinscher.

Judging will start at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and continue Saturday evening and from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. Sunday. Among rare breeds to be seen at the show are Afghan hounds, bloodhounds, a Rhodesian lion dog, Keeshonden, Boxers, Yorkshire terriers and miniature long-haired and smooth dachshunds.

Screen celebrities entering dogs include Adolphe Menjou, Great Dane, Jeanette MacDonald, Old English sheepdog; Gary Cooper, Sealyham terrier; Stuart Erwin, bulldog; and Charles Ruggles, Afghan hound, Cairn and West Highland White terriers.

Dogs from as far east as Philadelphia are entered in the show. Individual canines famed in their own right include Napoleon and Ace, his father, St. Bernards made famous by Clifford Macbride, the cartoonist; a St. Bernard with a life-saving certificate and a Harlequin Great Dane graduate of a police school in Germany.

S. A. Student In Creative Dancing Event At College

Creative dancing with a unique trend was interpreted by Elizabeth Downie, Santa Ana senior at Pomona college, this week when she appeared in a presentation of Orchestris on the Claremont campus.

Miss Downie, who resides at 240 Santiago street, was featured in a special presentation of "Three Trees," a comedy sketch, and appeared also in "Benediction" and a Polish dance.

The entire program was composed of creative works in dancing by members of Orchestris, national dancing society which has a chapter at Pomona. Miss Downie is a member of the college chapter.

TO HOLD MEET
IN SANTA ANA
FEBRUARY 18ASSEMBLYMAN JAMES B. UTT
ANSWERS REGISTER QUESTION
ON CAUSE OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Answering a question submitted by The Register: "What is the fundamental cause of unemployment?" Assemblyman James B. Utt, of Tustin, today branded the so-called processing tax as the "greatest immediate cause," but also touched on several other factors which he said were responsible for idleness.

The cause of unemployment, remains unproductive, men will said the assemblyman dates back to 1913 when America began to place a heavy graduated income tax upon the production of wealth.

The processing tax was represented as bringing this tax upon the production of wealth to a more acute stage, which has cost American producers their export trade, as well as impairing their domestic markets.

Utt's reply to The Register's question follows:

"Reasons for unemployment must be considered from a long range viewpoint, as well as from a short range viewpoint. The true course of economic law involving the employment problem is an oscillation between an abnormal employment condition and a sub-normal employment condition.

"Governments have been engaged for years in trying to make these gyrations less violent, and as a result have done more to relieve than cure. I think that the greatest immediate cause of unemployment is the so-called processing tax, which was simply a tax upon the production of wealth. A tax that made the cost of production so high that American producers lost not only their export markets, but also a great amount of the domestic markets. Merchandise produced outside of the United States by cheap foreign labor, commanded the world markets and flooded this country, in spite of our tariff walls; thus accounting for about 3,000,000 idle men. The only way to correct this, is to reverse the theory and to subsidize farm production, so that we can depend on domestic markets and compete in world markets. This subsidy should come from protective tariff revenues.

"Business Threatened
"A great portion of the balance of unemployment is in the capital goods industries. This is because business is constantly threatened by laws of expropriation and confiscation. They are, therefore, fearful of making capital outlays; and as a result, obsolescence of capital goods is at a higher figure than ever before in our history. Give business a promise that it will be permitted to make a fair profit, without the threat of expropriation to government, and it will absorb half or more of those remaining unemployed.

"As to the long range view as to the cause of employment, you can look to the time when America began to place a heavy graduated income tax upon the production of wealth, in 1913. Commencing at that date, and continuously ever since, capital has been going into hiding rather than into expansion, and when capital

Orange county's first Vegetable Growers' Institute, held here last year, was so successful that plans are being completed for a second institute to be held February 18, at Farm Bureau hall, 622 North Main street, it was announced today.

The second institute is being arranged through cooperation of the Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Vegetable Growers' Department of the Farm Bureau, and was requested by the growers. The program will be in charge of Ross Crane, recently appointed assistant farm advisor succeeding Eric E. Eastman, who is now farm advisor in San Diego county.

Discuss Many Problems
Crane said that every phase of vegetable production and marketing will be discussed during the one-day session with outstanding authorities leading the discussion. The morning program will be devoted, generally, to a discussion of the production of vegetables and the afternoon hours will be used for discussing methods of farm financing and marketing. The program as announced by Crane follows:

Morning Program
"Vegetable Diseases"—C. E. Scott, extension specialist in plant pathology, Berkeley. "Review of Vegetable Fertilization"—F. H. Ernst, University of California. "Progress in the Development of Improved Varieties of Tomatoes, Sweet Corn and Sweet Potatoes"—Dr. D. R. Porter, Division of Truck Crops, Davis.

Afternoon Program
"Vegetable Cooperative Movement"—John B. Schneider, extension specialist in agricultural economics. "Farm Bureau program for Vegetable Marketing"—Tom Robertson, chairman, State Vegetable Department, California Farm Bureau Federation. "Financing Production Credit"—G. T. Hudson, W. D. Miller, secretary Orange County Production Credit association. "Orange County Vegetable Growers association"—Clarence Brown, president.

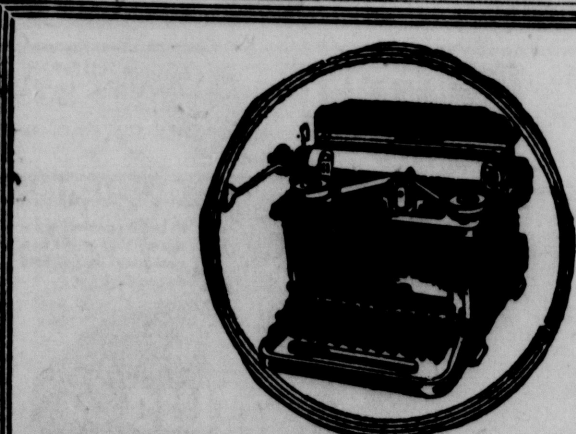

All vegetable and truck crop growers are invited to attend.

START ORANGE
CITRUS SCHOOL
ON THURSDAY

Problems of orchard management will be thoroughly discussed at the two-day Citrus Orchard Management School to be conducted at the Orange Union High school starting tomorrow. The school will be under auspices of the Agricultural Extension Service University of California, with Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg in charge of the program.

Wahlberg said today that every phase of citrus orchard management will be discussed. The discussions will be led by outstanding authorities in the industry and participated in by those attending.

Almost the entire program arranged for opening day will be devoted to discussing the farmer's irrigation and water problems. The session will open at 9:30 a. m. with W. R. Schoonover, citrus specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service, listed as the speaker. His subject will be "A Sound Irrigation Program."

Cecil Compton, of the United States Department of Agriculture, also will be a speaker on the morning program and will discuss "Use of water by Citrus Trees."

Afternoon Session
The afternoon session on opening day, is scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m. with J. B. Brown, irrigation specialist from University of California, and Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory, leading a discussion of "An Economic Survey of Irrigation Costs." M. R. Hubert, of the Division of Irrigation Investigations, University of California, will follow Cory and Brown, speaking on "A Study of Group and Individual Pumping Plants in Orange County."

The first day's sessions will close with an address by Wahlberg who will talk on "Operating an Orchard on a Depressed Budget." In his talk Wahlberg will outline tested methods for obtaining the maximum production and orchard efficiency with the minimum of cash expenditure.

Schoonover will be one of the speakers at the second day's session of the school. He will open the program at 9:30 a. m. talking on the topic "Fundamental Basis of Sound Citrus Fertilization." E. R. Parker, of the Citrus Experiment station, will follow Schoonover and talk on "Citrus Fertilizer Practices." Following Parker's talk the meeting will be thrown open for discussion of the subjects covered in the two formal addresses.

Parker will be the first speaker during the afternoon session, discussing "Mottle Leaf Control." Wahlberg will talk on "Economic Phases of Sealy Bark Control," and D. W. Tubbs, Orange county agricultural commissioner, will deliver the closing address, talking on "Planning a Pest Control Program."

"Rainbow," "California Cactus," "Pineapple," "Sweetheart," "Child's Animals Pattern," "Toyland," "Old Fashioned Lady," "Sunbonnet Girl," "Airplane," "Snowflake," "Sunburst," "Magic Vine," "Dresden Plate," "Broken Star" and "Rose Garden."

Those wishing to exhibit a specimen of their recent work should bring their quilt to the store and have it registered on or before Tuesday morning, February 18, according to Jones.

PENNEY STORE
PLANS ANNUAL QUILT EXHIBIT

The annual quilt fair staged by the J. C. Penney Department store, Bush and Fourth streets, will be launched next Wednesday and will continue through the following Saturday, it was announced today by F. A. Jones, store manager.

Quilt admirers of Orange county look forward to this annual quilt fair staged by the Penney company each year with great enthusiasm, inasmuch as the company tries to outdo itself each year in making the fair a bigger success, Jones said.

Quilts of all descriptions, loaned to the store by participants of Orange county, will be displayed throughout the entire store on ledges, walls, display fixtures and balconies. Every quilt will be displayed so that it can be easily viewed by the people as they pass along the aisles.

The quilts are all to be carefully examined by quilt experts who are to act as judges in awarding first, second and third prizes, basing their decision on fine quilting, difficult designs, originality, color harmony, finish and neatness. In commenting on last year's fair Jones said today the show was equal to that of a big county fair. Quilt admirers for miles around came to Santa Ana to see the exhibit.

Winners Last Year
Prize winners last year were Mrs. Ella Merrick, 2802 North Main, Santa Ana, first prize. Her quilt was a striking design in white background with figures whose form were aptly described by the name of pattern, "Grape Arbor." Mrs. Charles Mitchell, 409 South Main street, Santa Ana, won second place with her Rose of Sharon design whose flowers were shaded tones of rose and whose intricate quilting repeated the Rose of Sharon.

To Mrs. John State, of 1117 West Fifth street, went third prize for the Double Irish Chain quilt in tones ranging from soft ivory to vivid orange. Other quilts getting honorable mentioning were "Double Wedding Ring," "Fruit Basket,"

CONTINUE DRIVE AGAINST INDIGENTS

While controversy rages over the constitutionality of the city's drive against indigents, the "foreign patrol" of the Los Angeles Police Department continues to turn back hoboes and vagrants at state borders. This picture, taken near Yuma, Ariz., shows officers searching itinerants for weapons.

UNIQUE GOURD
DISPLAY NOW
AT STORE HERE

One of the most unique displays of gourds ever shown in this city is being exhibited in the windows of the T. P. Neal Sporting Goods store on East Fourth street.

More than 50 specimens of grotesque and varied shapes are on display against a background of sporting goods and equipment for the dog and cat fancier. Included in the exhibit are two types of Indian corn. One type is the corn grown by the Pima Indians on their reservation, near Phoenix, Ariz., and the other is corn similar to that grown by the Hopis near the Grand Canyon.

In the background there are two huge gourds called Goliath's flasks. It was this type gourd that was used by the pioneers for dippers and other purposes.

Large Display
The display includes Mexican bottle gourds, sugar bowl gourd, penguin shaped ones and even a snake gourd that probably is the most unique of the entire display. It was a bottle variety gourd that grew into a distorted shape resembling the writhing coils of a serpent.

In addition to the gourds, unique because of their weird shapes, there are others outstanding because of their size, one of the most distinctive being a gourd more than five feet long and of considerable diameter.

The display also includes some Turk's turbans loaned by George Platt who grows them on his property here.

Writing to Sell

BY ETHEL K. LOCKWOOD

On Radio Writing

The most satisfactory of all lines for the beginning writer to tackle is radio. Radio today, is in about the same stage moving pictures were 20 years ago—an industry grown top-heavy with its quick rise and far-reaching effects.

The radio studios send out calls for material regularly, according to information contained in various writers' magazines, but the volume of sales to the "outsider" is so small it is laughable. The studios will tell you that it is because the quality of the material submitted is so poor. That is only partially true. Much of it is rejected—or lost—because it isn't even read!

Unopened Scripts

I spent some time in the writing department of one of the big chain stations on the Pacific coast. The editor had recently resigned, and conditions were somewhat chaotic. Nevertheless that was hardly sufficient excuse for the scores of unopened scripts that were piled in one of the drawers in the editorial room. The postmarks on these scripts dated as far back as two years, and so far as I know, they are still lying unopened in that drawer.

Several years ago an acquaintance managed to wangle an interview out of a moving picture executive.

"Now that I'm here," he said to the "big shot," "I'm going to take a good look around. I've been trying for two years to get through that door. Why is it you won't let the outside writer even present his wares?"

The big man laughed.

Keep Outsiders Out

"Our writing organization," he said, "spends 90 per cent of its time keeping the outsider out; the other 10 per cent goes into the business."

Exaggeration, of course, but just true enough to make the beginner's hair stand on end. By the time the executives pass the writing jobs around to all their relatives and relatives' relatives, there aren't very many left.

Florence Ryerson, a prominent film writer, was once asked for a recipe for getting into the story department of a moving picture studio. Her answer was: "Be born into the family of a film executive."

Radio is in practically as bad a condition so far as the beginning writer is concerned. You can't get anyone in the big studios to look at your material. If we may judge by the calibre of some of the stories on the air, we might say: "They're afraid to."

Radio transcription houses have offered an outlet for the outside writer, but they are in continual turmoil over their various "rights," and are very poor pay at any time.

Best Method Given
The best way to go at radio, if you are determined to give it a whirl, is to tie up with an advertising agency that handles radio sponsors, and convince the agency you can write the kind of copy they need. It can be done. I once had a radio contract with an advertising agency that netted me a hundred dollars a week. But I had a background of 10 years experience in regular agency routine, and I still think I got a "break."

There is one important point to consider when you are writing for radio: Write — figuratively, of course—with your eyes shut. Don't put anything into your script that the audience has to see. Brief, simple descriptions, careful identification of characters, clean, easily-spoken dialog, these are the essentials of good radio.

Twenty Canadian factories manufactured $7,401 domestic washing machines in 1934, compared to 58,931 units in 1934. This output included 76,541 electric, 1516 gasoline-driven, 70 waterpowered, and 9364 hand-operated machines.

Dinner Party Given For The Lewis Brownes

A pleasant prelude to the closing lecture of the Lewis Brownes series in this city, was the intimate little dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. Brownes were complimented in advance of the lecture engagement, by Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Flint, entertaining Monday night in the home of Mrs. Flint's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Smith, 1717 North Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Flint and Mr. and Mrs. Brownes chance to have mutual friends in Turkey, so it was with more than usual interest that the Santa Anans have attended the lecture series, and had the pleasure of meeting the Brownes personally.

For the informal dinner party of Monday night, Mrs. Flint deferred to Mr. Brownes' preference for certain foreign dishes by planning her menu to include some of his favorites. In serving the courses, she arranged the table with shining yellow scapula blossoms and small shrine candles. Covers were laid for the hosts and their honor guests, and for Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Auer and Mr. and Mrs. George Baker. Later the diners went to First M. E. church where Mr. Brownes addressed the large audience on "What Is Wrong With the World."

Delta Chi Sigmata Schedule Bridge Event

Delta Chi Sigma sorority will entertain with a benefit bridge party Tuesday, February 18 at 8 p. m. in Weber's bakery, according to plans furthered Monday night at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Julien Lecrivain, Talbert Road.

The Misses Martha Sharpley, Helen Manderscheid, Carol Smith and Charlene Kite are in charge of the party, which will be in the nature of a Washington's birthday celebration.

Mrs. Lloyd Manderscheid, president, conducted business matters. Guests introduced were Charlotte Urbana, Cleola Lowe, Mickle Greenwald, Helen Doughty and Ruth Sterling, members of Alpha Gamma chapter of Long Beach.

Red tapers centered tables at the refreshment hour. Red and white sweet peas were other decorations.

Members present were Mesdames Julien Lecrivain, Lloyd Manderscheid, Corwin Frazee and the Misses Lucille Crawford, Frances Roberts, Marie McGinnis, Martha Sharpley, Alice Martin, Charlene Kite, Helen Manderscheid, Betty Niederrall, Carol Smith, Alberta Greene, Lorine Shippe.

Worthy Matrons Have Meeting in Artesia

Mrs. John Bruns and Miss Henrietta Bohling, worthy matrons of Santa Ana and Hermosa Eastern Star chapters of this city, were among those present at a recent luncheon at which Worthy Matrons' association of Orange county was entertained in the Artesia home of Mrs. Irma Lachemeyer. Mrs. Ina Liles, worthy matron of Yorba Linda chapter, was co-hostess.

Mrs. Esther Long of Fullerton, and Mrs. Bruns, secretary, took charge of a meeting which followed luncheon.

Completing the group of guests were Mrs. Mabel Lambert, worthy matron of Laguna Beach chapter, who will entertain the group in her Santa Ana home at the next meeting; Mesdames Agnes Bridge, Norwalk; Jean McDams, Huntington Beach; Jessie Seward, Anaheim; Alice T. Smith, Garden Grove; Vida Snell, Buena Park; Gwendolyn Thompson, Orange; Helen Edwards, Fullerton, grand marshal, who is an honorary member; Ruth Gregg, Anaheim, sponsor.

Surprise Party Comes In Compliment to Mrs. Munro

Mrs. Robert R. Munro, 1264 South Parton street, was incentive for a daintily appointed lavette shower Friday evening when Mrs. Earl Wilson entertained with a surprise affair in her home, 805 Bush street.

The honoree had been invited to the Wilson home for an evening of sewing and an informal travel talk given by Miss Evelyn Shafer, of Los Angeles, who displayed pictures of Mexico. It was not until later in the evening that Mrs. Munro learned that guests had assembled in her honor. They joined in presenting her with a bathrobe.

Court whist was the game of the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. George Schroeder, who scored high, and Mrs. Munro, low. Pink and blue decorations were used at the refreshment hour, when miniature baby carriages served as favors.

Miss Evelyn Shafer and Miss Glendine Seelman of Los Angeles joined in presenting corsage bouquets to the hostess and Mrs. Munro.

Invited to share the affair with Mrs. Wilson were Mrs. Munro and her sister, Miss Vernis Wagner, and the Misses George Gail Pennock, Dorothy Mayher, Alda Weaver, Mesdames Lee Stilton, Clyde Branson, George Schroeder, Santa Ana; Miss Helen Gemberling, Newport Beach; Mrs. Otto Schaffer, Anaheim; the Misses Evelyn Shafer, Glendine Seelman, Ruth Hall, and Mesdames Winifred Smith, Rae Griffin, Helen Wilson, Lillian Jones, Los Angeles.

Two Members Pledged To Social Club

To the membership of a social club representing several Orange county communities, will be added the names of the Misses Adeline Anderson of Anaheim, and Clarahe Solesbee of Placentia, who were pledged to "Les Filles de Jolie" Monday night at the club meeting with Miss Rosabell Kraemer, Placentia.

They will be initiated Tuesday night in the home of Miss Elmira Hain, Anaheim, in readiness for the next formal club meeting with Miss Barbara Cummins, also of Anaheim.

Needlework and cards formed the entertainment of the evening, and the hostess awarded prizes in card play to her house guest, Miss Violet Kruse, of Portland, and to Miss Hain. Card tables were utilized for serving refreshments to conclude the pleasant affair.

Miss Kraemer's guests were the Misses Elmira Hain, Blanche Eldridge, Barbara Cummins, Anaheim; Dorothy Solesbee, Placentia; Olga Kraemer, Olive; Helen Clay, Santa Ana; Adeline Anderson, and Clarahe Solesbee, Placentia, and Miss Kruse of Portland.

Bride Gives Party on Eve of Her Wedding

Assembling members of her bridal party for a dinner Saturday night, Miss Betty Burnham was hostess at a pleasant event on the eve of her wedding to James Martin Campbell.

The affair had its setting at 830 Lacy street. Place cards of heart design held small candles, while slip tapers added their light for the dinner hour. The bride-elect presented gifts to her attendants.

Her guests included Mesdames Edward Kotlar, Von Vontrebo, Charles Albion, Santa Paula; Charles Wilson, Paul Mugrave, Stella Fenley, Jessie Hudson, P. C. Allsop, C. M. Campbell, Sam Sartor and Miss Louise Sartor. Mr. Campbell entertained members of the bridal party and other guests at Laguna beach that same evening.

Grand Officer Visits Y. L. I. Thursday

Making her official visit to Capistrano Y. L. I. Thursday evening, Miss Genevieve Manning of San Francisco, Y. L. I. grand president, will be complimented at a 6:30 o'clock dinner in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe preceding a meeting at 8 o'clock in Knights of Columbus hall. Mrs. Emil Wetzel will head the dinner committee, composed of the Misses Elizabeth Palme, Estelle Schlesinger, Rose Colombini and Mesdames V. C. Croal, Harry Lippitt.

Refreshments at the close of the meeting in the hall will be saved by Mesdames Harold Brown, E. Penton Dean, John Dressler and Miss Agnes Lieberman.

Santa Anans Leave For Desert

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hawley and daughter and son, Miss Dale and Edward Hawley Jr., South Van Ness avenue, left yesterday morning for Europ, Calif., a desert community where they will make their home for the next few months. They are closing up their local residence until June, when they expect to return here for an indefinite stay. Mr. Hawley has purchased interest in a gravel plant on the desert.

As a farewell gesture, Miss Dale Hawley entertained with a little party last week in her home. Her guests were the Misses Dorothy Jesse, Lucille Swain, Marion Parsons, Carmelle Swain and Angie Le Gakes. Refreshments were served at the close of an evening of bridge.

Padua Hills Players Draw Appreciation Of Audience

Transferred from Padua Hills Playhouse and its auxiliary dining room, to the stage of Willard Junior High school auditorium, one of those colorful singing-dancing-guitar playing programs that, like a lodestar, draw people to Padua Hills, last night exerted the same benign influence here, attracting an appreciative crowd to the auditorium.

Dates Named for Coming I. T. U. Affairs

Events to come took prominence in Monday night's meeting of I. T. U. auxiliary when Mrs. Dean Lawrence and Mrs. N. J. Daschner received members in the Lawrence home, 1702 West Eighth street.

Mrs. William Lawrence, president, had charge of the business session when an invitation was read to a benefit card party to be held February 15 at 7:30 p. m. in Union temple, 42 East Walnut street, Pasadena. Approaching affairs of the local group include a social meeting for the night of February 22, when I. T. U. and auxiliary members will don hard time costumes and gather for an old-fashioned box social in Weber's hall, North Main street. This event is planned to raise money for the auxiliary fund.

On February 25, the auxiliary and friends will be taken on an inspection tour of the Winbiger Mortuary at 7:15 o'clock. On March 9 at 7:30 p. m. will come the next business meeting with Mrs. G. L. Helm, 441 South Birch street. Mrs. Charles Brown will be hostess with Mrs. Helm.

Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Daschner introduced a pleasant social note at the conclusion of the business meeting. They served refreshments of cake, orange ice and coffee whose colors blended with the charming pottery, dolls and napkins of the trays employed in serving, and the quaint little pottery bowls filled with tiny cactus plants, which were favors.

Guests included Mesdames William Lawrence, Carl Fisher, E. R. Stowell, J. E. Swanger, E. R. Kimbell, William H. Field, G. L. Helm, Charles Brown, C. A. Rousseau, J. W. Parkinson, Mabel Sherwood, J. H. Randall, C. M. Marvin, V. C. Shidler and Miss Catherine Rousseau.

Church Societies

First Christian

Telling of her experiences in Mexico where she studied last summer, Mrs. Mabel Spizy, supervisor of music in the city schools, was speaker last week at a meeting of First Christian Missionary society in the educational building.

Luncheon at noon was served under direction of Mrs. T. D. Knights. Mrs. Fred Strong had decorated tables with lavender and pink sweet peas.

Mrs. C. F. Skirvin led opening song service, which was followed by devotionals in charge of Mrs. M. D. Haskell. In connection with her talk, Mrs. Spizy had arranged a display of baskets, scarfs and leather articles made in Mexico.

Class Party

Mrs. Iva Webber's Bible class of Richland Avenue Methodist church elected officers Friday night during a party in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Stull, 514 South Ross street. Mrs. Roy Bogardus was named president; Hubert Boake, vice president; Mrs. Eva O'Brien, treasurer; Mrs. E. G. Warner, secretary; Mrs. E. G. Warner, secretary; Mrs. E. G. Warner, secretary.

Covered-dish dinner was served to launch the evening. Games were played for part of the time.

Present were the Rev. O. W. Reinus, Messrs. and Mesdames C. L. Croyle, Roy C. Bogardus, Frank Concklin, Benjamin Veale, E. G. Warner, Mesdames Myrtle Stull, Iva Webber, Catherine Sheriff, Bessie Booth, L. E. Kneeland, Eva O'Brien, B. Rule, Messrs. C. W. White, Charles Boake, Hubert Boake, O. T. Collins, and Miss Harriet McGilliard.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

PATTERN 2665 BY ANNE ADAMS

Such a gay young frock—and one that's crisp and fresh looking from morn till night! And, with all its serviceable features, it achieves a very dressed up, feminine look. "There's a ruffle round my shoulder" sings the happy woman who chooses to make this frock her own, and, indeed, the pretty self or contrasting ruffle which edges the yoke and simulates a deep collar is but one easy feature of this quickly-made frock. An added inducement lies in the fact that yoke and skirt panel are just one long continuous line, which insures easy cutting, fitting and stitching—and isn't that center panel height-giving, as well? Slash or puff your sleeves, but do choose a Spring-like cotton or silk.

Pattern 2665 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 16 takes 3 7/8 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. STATE SIZE. Be sure to order OUR SPRING PATTERN BOOK for smart new clothes that'll fit you and your needs to a "T"! Gay, practical frocks to cheer you at work. Lovely party frocks and sports clothes to flatter you at play. Collars, blouses, skirts for multiplying costumes. Chic slenderizing styles. Patterns for tots. Fabric and accessory news. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to The Register, Pattern Department, Santa Ana, Calif.

Temperance Workers Hold Annual Frances Willard Event

Tribute to the memory of Frances Willard was paid by members of Santa Ana W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon at an annual affair in the home of Mrs. Theo. Winbiger, 207 East Ninth street, whose mother, the late Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, was related to Miss Willard.

Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, first vice-president, conducted the meeting, with Mrs. Winbiger and Mrs. Jessie Burns Stewart taking charge of the program. The Rev. A. E. Kelly, pastor of United Presbyterian church, led devotionals, and later read the Crusade Psalm 146.

Mrs. Harry Hayes sang "Onward Christian Soldiers," "Faith of Our Mothers" and "The Glory Song," with Mrs. W. B. Snow at the piano. Mrs. F. R. Arnold read a biography of Frances Willard; Mrs. Thomas Willits sang "Crossing the Bar," accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong; Mrs. John Wehrly read a story, "The Rest Cottage"; Mrs. George Warner sang "Others," accompanied by Mrs. Snow; Miss Elizabeth Winbiger, granddaughter of the hostess, read a paper which the late Mrs. Mills had written on "Our Chieftain"; Mrs. R. R. Lutes spoke on "The Frances Willard Centenary Fund"; Miss Esther Davis directed a group of Frances Willard Junior high school boys in vocal numbers; Mrs. Nelson Visel sang "If I Were a Voice," accompanied by Miss Armstrong.

Mrs. T. L. Warren spoke of the luncheon which will start the centenary drive for funds for Orange County W. C. T. U. The affair will be given by Unions of the county under direction of Mrs. Lola Grimm, county president, and Mrs. Bertha Brinker, state treasurer, with Santa Ana Union as hostess. The date has not yet been determined.

Mrs. Warner and Mrs. John Wehrly poured tea during the social hour which brought the memorial meeting to a close.

Intimate Group Pays Honor to Octogenarian

Mrs. Fannie Newman's 87th birthday anniversary occasioned a little dinner party shared Sunday afternoon by an intimate group in the home of the honoree's daughter, Mrs. Mamie Gibson, 414 East Second street. Completing the party were Miss Josephine Thomas and Lillian Mitchell.

Decorations included a bouquet of sweet peas sent by Mrs. B. A. Knudson of this city, another daughter of Mrs. Newman. Birthday cake was served with the last dinner course. Mrs. Newman, formerly of Nevada, Ia., has lived in Santa Ana for the past 20 years.

Kitchen Gifts Are Presented Party Honoree

Expressing hospitality with vivid flowers and decorations that suggested the approaching Valentine season and were especially appropriate for a pre-bridal party, the Misses Margaret Guard and Alma McClain last night complimented Miss Roseline Schilling (fiancee of Lee Hasenjaeger) at a gift shower and bridge party.

Guests were received in Miss Guard's home, 702 Oak street, where bridge play resulted in victory for Mrs. Paul Reynolds. Her reward was a bowl in yellow Franciscan pottery. To Mrs. Clyde Higgins with second high score went a gardenia corsage and a linen handkerchief, while an amusing china dog offered canine sympathy to Miss Helen Demetriou for her poor luck in holding cards.

Shower gifts for Miss Schilling will serve to equip the kitchen of the home to be established after the March wedding.

The heart motif was uppermost at the refreshment hour, when tables were lighted with scarlet tapers soaring from fluted red cellophane holders. Each holder supported large red hearts pierced with Dan Cupid's golden arrows. Favors were gumdrop candle holders, and the menu offered heart shaped angel food cakes, ice cream in heart moulds, coffee and other dainties.

Miss Guard and Miss McClain included on their guest list with Miss Schilling, Mesdames Roderick Smiley, Stuart Diehl of Anaheim, Clyde Higgins, Paul Reynolds, Allan Carstenson, the Misses Verna Helm, Virginia Galdea, Helen Demetriou, Dorothy Dunbar, Agnes Vorce, Norma Wilson, Agnes McKinty, Mary Jean DuBois, Jessie McClain, Florence Turner, Marjorie Samuelson, Marjorie Berker and May Hasenjaeger.

Announcements

Emma Sansom chapter, U. D. C., will meet tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. E. C. Martin, 1176 East Chestnut street. Mrs. Guy J. Miller will be in charge of a program on "History of the Mardi Gras." Hostesses will be Mesdames Laura Looney, T. J. Houghton, Lillie Hamilton, Belle Nuckolls.

First Presbyterian Estella Daniel Missionary society will hold an annual banquet tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. in the church dining room, under direction of Mrs. Otto J. Hawley, president, and Miss Bess Hill, chairman of the social committee. Ten tables, each in charge of two members, will represent national and foreign states. Speakers will give three-minute talks on mission fields. The address of the evening will be given by Mrs. M. Northrop Wyatt, on "Africa."

Social Briefs

EIGHT FOR BRIDGE
Yesterday was truly a delightful day in which to play bridge, as discovered by members of the two table club who gathered in Mrs. Joseph B. Irwin's pretty home on Prospect avenue. Mrs. Irwin had colorful valentine appointments to place in readiness for serving a dessert course as soon as the guests arrived. The valentine place cards then served for recording contract scores, and to Miss Charlene Lowell, a guest, went first prize. Miss Lowell and Mrs. Paul Nelson, of Orange, substituted for Miss Loretta Spangler and Mrs. George Bradley. Mrs. Bradley and her tiny new daughter, Barbara, will be given a royal welcome by the club upon their return to their home, 115 McFadden street, from St. Joseph hospital where the baby was born Friday, February 7, in addition to the two guests, Mrs. Irwin entertained yesterday Mrs. Q. L. Hardy, Mrs. William Jerome Jr., Mrs. Leo West, Mrs. Woodrow Barnett and Miss Betty Rowland.

Eastern Visitors
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McFarren, 41 East Chestnut street, are entertaining as houseguests, Mrs. Walter Stillenbauer of Shepherd, Mich., and a close friend, Mrs. Minnie Abbott of St. Johns, Mich. The Santa Anans and their visitors have taken automobile trips to San Juan Capistrano Mission, Pasadena, Elsinore, March Field and Forest Lawn Memorial Park with its Wee Kirk of the Heather and Little Church of the Flowers. They expect to spend some time at the exposition in San Diego, and to make a trip to Catalina Island. Mrs. Abbott is here for a several months' stay, and is dividing her time with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wilson, 630 Orange avenue, and the McFarrens. Mrs. Stillenbauer expects to leave within a few weeks for Holbrook, Ariz., to spend some time with her son before returning east.

Poetry Section Uses February Theme

Poetry section members of the Woman's club felt that the elements added to the charm of their meeting yesterday morning with Mrs. Earl Ladd, 1325 Cypress street, for the rain made fitting accompaniment for the contributions.

The majority of poems read were original, although these called to mind various favorites which were repeated by different ones present. Mrs. Ladd read an especially interesting poem on "Color," written by the late Myra Catherine Davis, well known poet. The copy read was given Mrs. Ladd personally by the author's mother.

Original poems read were inspired largely by two outstanding phases of February, the patriotic dates represented by Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, and the romance of valentine day. Enjoyment of the program was intensified by the cheerful fire around which the guests were grouped, and the quantities of jonquils and other blossoms in vivid yellow which the hostess arranged in blue bowls in accordance with a blue and yellow color scheme.

Present were Mrs. Ladd, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, Mrs. Earl M. Waycott, Mrs. R. W. Cole, Mrs. E. G. Warner and Mrs. Margaret Church.

Birthday Cake Blooms With Eight Candles

Remembering her own little girlhood, and the hunger induced by a long day at school, Mrs. O. L. Jacobs, 124 East Edinger street, planned to serve refreshments at the birthday party of her small daughter, Francy Lee, immediately upon arrival of the children from school, Monday afternoon.

Francy Lee was eight years old, as indicated by the eight scarlet candles shining on her birthday cake. This cake was part of the colorful decorative effect of the table, with its flowers and valentines, and a great cluster of colored balloons floating above, one balloon for each child as a party favor.

Mrs. Ben Kingsbury, of Laguna Beach, Francy Lee's aunt, aided Mrs. Jacobs in directing games and amusements. She brought to the party, her own small daughter, Betty Jane Kingsbury, just a year old, and the special joy of her cousins, Francy Lee and Helen Jean.

There were many pretty gifts for the little birthday maid from her guests who included with her

Bride-elect Attends Party in Home Of Fiance's Parents

Miss Adelaide Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hutchinson, 827 East Fifth street, whose marriage to Vincent Palmo, will take place next Tuesday, was honor guest at a shower Sunday, in the home of her fiance's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Palmo, Orange.

Forty guests assembled for an afternoon of music and conversation. In serving refreshments buffet style, Mrs. Palmo had assistance of her daughters, the Misses Carolyn, Beatrice and Jennie Palmo.

The bride-elect was presented with a variety of gifts including an electric percolator, linens, silver and a washing machine.

The wedding of Miss Hutchinson and Mr. Palmo will have its setting in Orange Holy Family Catholic church.

Surprise Party Marks Two Anniversaries

Miss Mamie Roelands and Mrs. Ralph Tathwell shared birthday honors recently at a surprise party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jerry, 1334 South Parton street. Red sweet peas and poinsettias brightened the rooms.

Five hundred was played with prizes going to Mrs. Tathwell and P. Woodmus who scored high; Mrs. Charles Wolford and Mr. Tathwell, low.

Cakes decked with candles and bearing the names of Miss Roelands and Mrs. Tathwell were set before the celebrants during the refreshment hour. The confections were served with a jello dessert. Napkins, heart-shaped cases filled with red candles, and other appointments suggested a valentine theme. Guests had observed the same motif in wrappings for the birthday gifts which were showered upon Miss Roelands and Mrs. Tathwell at the evening's close.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tathwell, Miss Mamie Roelands, Mrs. C. Roelands, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wolford, Mr. and Mrs. P. Woodmus, Mrs. May Ragon and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry.

FOUNDERS' DAY PROGRAM HELD IN EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Feb. 12.—Founders' day was observed at the meeting of the El Modena P. T. A. yesterday, with teachers of the school acting as the hosts. Miss Emma Williamson presided at the business session. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. Faye Sorenson.

Past presidents of the group were honor guests, these including the president, who served in the same capacity several years ago. Other past presidents present were Mrs. Marion Filppen, Mrs. C. A. Robinson and Mrs. Fay Irwin. All were presented with corsages of white gardenias.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, of Santa Ana, past president of the Fourth District, who spoke on "The Part of P. T. A. in Character Building." Miss Ethel Armstrong sang "By the Bend of the River" and Charles Armstrong sang, "The Builders," and "Three For Jack." Both were accompanied by their mother, Mrs. W. C. Armstrong.

Mrs. Donald Smiley extended an invitation to those present to attend a tea to be given at her home in honor of Mrs. C. C. Noble, of Catalina Island, February 19.—Mrs.

Noble is chairman of the state Founders' day committee.

An executive board meeting was announced for Friday at 2 p. m. An award in an attendance contest, a bowl with gold fish, was won by the fifth and sixth grade room, with Mrs. Mary Nichols, teacher.

Tea was served, with the superintendent of the schools, J. D. Hayes and the principal of the Roosevelt school, J. Russell Parks, in charge of the tea table as the occasion marked fathers' day. A number of fathers of pupils were present.

The table was centered with sweetpeas and was lighted with red tapers. A valentine motif was stressed in appointments. A Founders' day birthday cake was served with other cakes and sandwiches. Assisting the two men in their duties were Mrs. Mary Nichols, Mrs. Alice Raymond and Mrs. Eunice Metcher.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

THE great "Kitchen of Khar-tum" had still to earn that title when in 1897 he led British troops against the marauding Derivishes in the Upper Nile Valley.

For five years, Sir Herbert Kitchen-er had been pushing on, in the Sudan, each victory bringing on territorial reorganization. Once, "K," as his officers called him, asked one of his officers, now Col. E. A. Stanton, to design a stamp.

Groping for an idea, Stanton saw the mail brought in by a camel-herd. That gave him his design. Another rider galloped back and forth, with sacks of straw, simulating the mail, on his saddle, while the officer drew the design. "K" accepted it, but he failed to notice the words "Berber" and "Khar-tum," which the officer had spelled out on the sacks, the names of two districts still in enemy lands.

HE TAUGHT THEM TO SAVE in buying food

THE PUPILS: 24 High School girls
THE CLASSROOM: A Safeway grocery

A public school teacher recently wrote this letter to the Safeway family . . .

"When we had our lesson on marketing, I took my class to the Safeway store for a practical demonstration.

"Although I had made previous arrangements, I was appreciative of the manner in which we were received. You know, it is no pleasure for a merchant to have twenty-four giggling Junior High School girls wandering through his store.

"But this Safeway grocer . . . took down can after can of fruits and vegetables and bottle after bottle—to show us the difference in grades, sizes, contents and prices.

"In fact he gave us a very instructive lecture on the fine points of thrifty food buying—and, as we left, a cordial invitation to come again.

"We had not been trading at this store but I made it a point to see that 'the Safeway family' thereafter received our business."

How much did you spend for food last month? Check up. Then trade at your Safeway grocer's for 30 days and compare your total savings!

THE SAFEWAY GROCER'S

Good Neighbor Code

- I sell only foods of a quality I can personally recommend
- I tell you truthfully the grade and condition of all my foods
- I guarantee full-weight measure
- I refund to customers the full price of any purchase which proves unsatisfactory
- I mark my prices openly and plainly so that all customers are treated alike
- I wait on children shoppers in their regular turn, paying special attention to their needs
- I try to keep my store clean, well-lighted and orderly at all times
- I try to be a good neighbor to all who enter my store

SAFEWAY

Entire advertisement copyright 1936 Safeway Stores, Inc.

IT IS YOUR Safeway grocer's business to know thoroughly the foods with which he stocks his store.

He can tell you about can sizes and the contents of each can. And about how to choose fruits, vegetables, tender meats.

He wants to give you the facts you need to compare prices grade for grade and quality within each grade.

You see, giving his customers buying advice is part of your Safeway grocer's job.

That job is to lower food prices—and also pay back to farmers a larger share of the food dollar.

No single grocer could do these things. So Safeway grocers, buyers, truckers, marketmen and home economists work as a family.

This way they save time—and eliminate wasteful expenses—in between farm and store.

The Safeway family tackled this job because the American people wanted it done—and because the people reward men who do what the public wants.

Savings divide three ways. First your Safeway grocer makes more money than other people doing similar work. Second you, the consumer, can regularly save money on food.

And third the farmer gets a larger share of each food dollar spent at your Safeway grocer's than he could before this family method was developed . . . Ralph Pringle, Division Manager for Safeway and Pay'n Takit Stores, 1925 East Vernon Avenue, Los Angeles, California.

THE TWYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Illustrations by GEORGE SCARBO

Fat Slim kept running right along. "I didn't know I was this strong," he yelled back at the Tinies. "You tots must be very light."

"It would have been a funny thing, if I was unable to bring you Twymites along with me, but everything's all right."

"Right through the gate we're going to go, and then we'll stage our little show." "Hey, hold on," shouted Scouty. "That big gate is closed, right now."

Wee Dotty shouted, with a grin, "Hi, ho! Somebody let us in."

"Don't worry," said kind Slim. "We will get through the arch somehow."

Just then the gate flew open wide. "I told you so," Slim promptly cried. And then he went on through. A little rabbit shouted, "Stop!"

"Please tell me, are you friend or foe, and where do you intend to go? Then I'll decide if I should call a husky jungle cop."

"Why, you know me," replied Slim. "Say, quite often I've been around this way. This time I've brought some Twymites. A circus you will see."

"They're in my cage and they are keen to put on acts you've never seen," "Okay," replied the rabbit. "Go ahead... but, wait for me."

Soon other cute beasts gathered 'round. Slim picked an open stretch of ground and brought his big cage to a stop. Then he addressed the crowd.

"My friends," he shouted, "we have come with wondrous acts. We'll show you some. All of the Tinies will perform. Of them you will be proud."

And then the Tinies heard him shout, "Five of you youngsters please jump out. Leave Duncy in the cage. His act will be the first we'll see."

This pleased wee Duncy. He began by dancing 'round the cage. He ran right up and shook the bars till the surprised beasts laughed in glee.

Drilling Work On 1000 Acre Lease Begins Soon

STEEL DERRICK SCHEDULED FOR SMELTZER SITE

SMELTZER, Feb. 12.—Preparations are being completed to start drilling the first well in the 1000-acre Hillman-Long lease, halfway between Midway City and Oceanview. The first well will be drilled on the property at the intersection of Huntington Beach boulevard and Smeltzer road on land owned by the Anaheim Sugar company.

Last September the Hillman-Long corporation signed lease agreements with owners of 1000 acres of land, agreeing to start drilling operations within six months. Under terms of the lease property owners were to receive annual rental of $10 per acre for the property.

The company already has paid half of the agreed rental price and the property owners have agreed to forfeit the balance in consideration of the start of drilling operations.

The Hillman-Long company will conduct its own drilling operations and Monday started building a road into the site of the first well. Yesterday steel for the derrick was hauled in to the property and preparations made to pour the concrete base for the derrick.

The lease includes some of the best bean land in the county. Owners retain the right to continue farming operations on the property until such time as oil is found on their holdings.

Woman's Club To Sponsor Benefit Party On Friday

BUENA PARK, Feb. 12.—Sponsored by the Woman's club, a benefit card party will be held at the clubhouse Friday evening. A valentine motif will be featured with Mrs. W. H. Walling, Mrs. C. W. Wahl and Mrs. F. H. Cooley in charge. Prizes will be awarded for both bridge and "500." A refreshment course will be served.

Dinner Arranged By Civic Group

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 12.—Members of the Garden Grove Chamber of commerce will hold a dinner meeting and ladies' night program March 10 it was decided at the regular meeting of the group held in the chamber building Tuesday evening. President L. W. Schauer will appoint a committee to make arrangements.

It was voted not to hold bank nights on Saturday evenings after this month. Some discussion took place about resuming bank nights at a later date. A vote of thanks was given E. J. Tobias for his work.

Tobias reported that the WPA sewing project had been moved to the Legion hall and was working out satisfactorily. This move to new quarters was made through merchants paying rental of the building. He also reported for the park committee, stating he had conferred with Supervisor J. C. Mitchell and found that the project had been approved and that 21 men would be hired for a period of three weeks.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS GIVEN BACKING OF LAGUNA C. OF C.; TILTON TO TALK AT LUNCHEON

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 12.—A committee from Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce headed by President George A. Portus, will confer with members of the city council within a few days on the subject of the improvement and beautification of Heister park and adjacent grounds, it was announced at Tuesday's meeting. Portus reported that upon the occasion of a recent visit to WPA headquarters in Santa Ana, he was told that funds were available to Laguna Beach for such a project, provided the city would sponsor it and submit a plan.

The kite-flying tournament planned by the Laguna chamber will be county-wide in scope, according to arrangements now under way. Edwin Wilson and Bruce Handy, as committeemen on arrangements, rendered preliminary reports indicating that much enthusiasm had been manifested by local merchants and school authorities.

Handy is to visit various schools in Orange county bearing the invitation of Laguna Beach to school students to participate in the event, scheduled to take place during Easter week. Five contests will be held, embracing pupils of all grades from the fifth to the eighth grades. Substantial prizes will be awarded, and the chamber of commerce at Tuesday's meeting headed the subscription list with a donation of $25 towards the fund to be raised.

The chamber announced that arrangements have been made to present the 24-piece WPA band next Sunday in the grounds adjacent to the Art gallery. The band concert will supplement the art and meeting of the Art association, which meets that day. A committee headed by George A. Portus, president of the chamber, made arrangements to secure the services of the band.

L. Deming Tilton, of the California State Planning board, and member of the Orange County planning commission, will be guest speaker at the chamber luncheon scheduled for February 18. Members of the city council will attend the luncheon. Tilton will give an informal talk on "Planning and Zoning."

City In Darkness When Tree Falls On Edison Wires

LA HABRA, Feb. 12.—La Habra was in darkness for approximately three hours last night when a eucalyptus tree fell across the main power line.

The service was interrupted at 5 p.m. and was resumed at approximately 8 o'clock. According to officials of the Southern California Edison company, when the tree fell it tore out four sections of the main trunk line serving the city.

Party Held In Capistrano Home

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Feb. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Spear were hosts Monday evening at a dessert bridge party. Mixed sweet peas were used in decorating the rooms in which card tables had been placed and a dainty dessert was served at 8 o'clock. Those invited were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Roseman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Evans, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Billips and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown.

SIGN CONTRACT FOR NEW H. B. CAMPAIGN SEEN SEWER PLANT IN PLACENTIA

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 12.—The city council in an adjourned session last night signed the contract and approved the bonds of the construction company on the new sanitary sewer project for this city to be constructed at a cost of $85,000.

Construction work on the project will start as soon as the signed contract and bonds are approved by the PWA, which is advancing funds for a part of the cost. It was announced by Chairman Warner of the sewer committee that the actual construction work should be under way in the next couple of weeks. It will provide employment for a large force of skilled labor and common labor at wages ranging from $5 to $7 a day.

The DeMolay organization was invited by the council to take over the city government for a day, an annual event for the DeMolay, which group will run the city government March 17.

The council voted to recommend local option for the control of the liquor business, rather than state control. The council will send a delegation of members to Los Angeles to attend a meeting called by state officials February 20 and 21 in the state building. The California League of Municipalities in a letter to the council urged the city government to take an active part in order to permit the cities to have control of the liquor business in their separate localities, as opposed to state-wide control.

Councilman Lee Chamness brought up the matter of the proposed beach pavilion and convention hall. City Clerk C. R. Furr explained that the city did not have the funds at this time to start the beach project, and would not have any money for the project before July 1, when the new budget will be arranged and new taxes will be available for the project, which has already been endorsed as a federal relief project and money from the federal treasury appropriated to carry a part of the cost.

Pete Morrison applied to the council for permission to operate a live bait boat from the pier. Morrison offered the city 5 cents a passenger and a rental guarantee for use of the boat landing on the pier.

The proposal of Morrison was held over to the next meeting to give the council time for a thorough investigation.

Mrs. S. L. Treff Shower Hostess

LA HABRA, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Leslie Foist was honored at a recent shower given by Mrs. S. L. Treff at her home on West Greenwood avenue. The pink and blue color motif was carried out and the gifts were presented in a daintily decorated bazaar. Guests were former teacher associates of the honoree and relatives.

The evening was spent playing bridge and prizes were awarded to Miss Barbara Higgins, first, and Mrs. L. E. Proud, second. Others present were Mrs. Bruce Stanford, Mrs. Golden Drew, of Fullerton, Mrs. Aletha Neiswanger, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Glen Foist, Miss Avis Elder, Ruth Lana, Blanche Ferdine and Mrs. Buelah O'Connell.

Beach Auxiliary To Meet Thursday

SAN CLEMENTE, Feb. 12.—San Clemente Legion auxiliary will entertain Mrs. Marjory Peabody, of La Habra, 21st district president, and Mrs. Fannie Reeves of Santa Ana, Thursday at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. E. H. Moore, 143 Trafalgar lane. All members are invited to attend.

OVER 200 PERSONS PRESENT FOR FIFTH ANNUAL DINNER OF YORBA LINDA ORGANIZATION

YORBA LINDA, Feb. 12.—The fifth annual states dinner sponsored by the Yorba Linda Woman's club was held at the clubhouse Tuesday night. More than 200 were seated at the tables. The tables were decorated to fit the states represented, with the foreign table decorated in green, honoring the Rev. Crawford Trotter, former pastor of the Methodist church, toastmaster of the evening, a native of Ireland.

J. W. Brown led the group singing. The foreign table won first prize for showmanship, and the Iowa table first in program.

The Iowa table featured a hog calling contest. Lloyd Timm presided. Those who participated were W. E. Swain, Ralph Shook, "Dad" Nicholson, Harold Clow and F. W. Schulte. Mrs. Golda Anderson also represented the table by playing a violin solo. Mrs. R. M. Solover accompanied her at the piano.

Jack Casparie at the Missouri table introduced Mrs. Lloyd Zimmerman, who in turn introduced the Harmony Four, a quartet composed of Howard Jerome, Ira MacNamee, R. Kyle and Ray Childs.

Miss Spelman, chairman of the table, presented Francis Nugent, representing Abraham Lincoln and Martin Scheta, representing Douglas, who presented a debate.

C. E. Simmons represented the southern states, along with "Col." Waller Lowe; Gaillard Paige represented Ohio; Herbert Worsham represented Texas and Mrs. A. C. Pickering represented Indiana.

At the New England table, Mrs. A. S. Walker was spokesman, and presented Mrs. A. G. Mortiz, who introduced Mrs. Julia Solover, who was born in Maine more than 87 years ago.

Mrs. Walker also presented Herbert, Matthew and Gordon Walker, who presented a skit and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mars, of Santa Ana, and C. E. Simmons and Jack Casparie, of Yorba Linda, who enacted "The Spirit of '76."

The "foreigners" were introduced by Bert Shaw, and proved to be from Australia, England, Canada, Ireland, Scotland, Sweden, Germany, Norway and Denmark. On the program were Dick Buchanan, who played bagpipes; Ed Jones, Edward Watkins, of Fullerton, and J. C. Carter.

Leroy Grimm spoke briefly for the southern states; the representatives of the northwestern states were at one table and were introduced by Audrey Ton.

Mrs. Jessie Broughner presented a nice Miss Helen Barber, of Kansas, who gave a reading. J. McKeon, a "Scotchman" from New Mexico had a table all his own and presented a short program. The program from the California table was presented with Jimmie Swain as chairman of the afternoon session.

The STRANGE CASE OF JULIA CRAIG

CHAPTER XXV

"Those papers," Woodford faltered. "If I tell you about Nesbitt will you see that I get them back?"

"Yes," Kemp answered. "And if you don't I'll see they go to the prosecuting attorney."

Woodford sat down weakly in the hall chair. Perspiration lay damply in the folds of his face. "It wasn't that I wanted to shield a murder. But I tried to keep it quiet on account of—of Nesbitt's parents, and—certain business connections he had."

"I don't care about that," said Kemp quickly. "I want to hear what you know about his death."

Woodford raised his eyes to meet the grim, determined face of Kemp. "It was . . . Mrs. Joseph," he said at last. "She was insanely in love with him, and she knew he planned to marry Cintra Lee."

"Where is she now? Do you know?"

Woodford nodded. "She's at the Brookfield under the name of Leah Sorenson."

Kemp waited to hear no more. Slipping one arm around Julia's waist, he hurried her from the apartment and down to his car at the curb. Julia saw that he was trembling violently. She too was weak from those few moments in Woodford's hallway.

"When were you in Woodford's office?" she asked, as Kemp shoved the car into gear.

"I wasn't. It was pure bluff—but it worked. I've always suspected Woodford of those cases I mentioned, and of a lot more, too."

"Why?"

"Because ordinary fees wouldn't account for the fabulous sums he's always spent." He brought the car to a careening stop before a drug store. "I'll be right back," he told Julia, and ran inside the store. Through the wide doors she saw him go into the telephone booth and guessed that he was sending the police to Mrs. Joseph's apartment.

"I thought it wouldn't hurt to have the police in on this," he told Julia, resuming his place behind the wheel. "We'll go ahead—there isn't a moment to lose. Woodford may have already telephoned her that we're coming. If we don't find her—and Woodford gets to his office and discovers I was bluffing—we're lost!"

Kemp's car literally hurtled through the traffic, ignoring stop lights and missing disaster by

WED CLINTON NEW PRESIDENT OF CIVIC BODY

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 12.—Ned Clinton, outgoing vice president of the Westminster Chamber of commerce, was made president for the coming year at the annual election held Monday evening at the local library building, taking the place of George Clough, for the past two years president, who is moving from the community. Mrs. Myrtle Knouse, local postmistress, was made secretary of the organization following Dr. Russell L. Johnson, retiring secretary.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the holding of a civic meeting to be held at Westminster park at a date to be set for the purpose of celebrating the completion of payments of the 20-year bonds for the Westminster Drainage district. Harry E. Anderson, a director of the district, was present to report on this. The bonds were voted in 1917, the amount of $25,000 voted being the cost of the construction of the system, which follows a course from Ocean avenue and Cannery streets on the north and east in a diagonal direction to the ocean outlet. An annual tax on lands in the district has paid off bonds and kept up annual expense of the district.

There was discussion on the subject of the delay in the extension of Seventeenth Boulevard through to Long Beach, which has been pending several years. Further communication with county supervisors has been made by the local chamber of commerce.

Class To Hold Valentine Party

BUENA PARK, Feb. 12.—Husbands of members will be special guests at the valentine party planned for Friday evening in the Friends of the Bible church. In charge will be Mrs. J. W. Sanbury, class teacher; Mrs. Vernon Criswell, Mrs. Edgar Grabau, Mrs. Lester Schofield and Mrs. Edwin Bastady.

Class members are holding another pie fair contest with Mrs. Clarence Henderson, Mrs. Willa Camfield, Mrs. Edgar Grabau and Mrs. Lewis Hesse as captains. February hostesses at the regular meeting of the group were Mrs. A. B. Allen, Mrs. Katie Van Rennes, Mrs. Marion Hemus and Mrs. Laure Culp.

Asia Minor Talk Set for Sunday

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 12.—Dr. Samuel Edgar, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church of Santa Ana, who is a former missionary to Asia Minor, will be the principal speaker Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the world friendship session. Mission study class will be held at 6 o'clock. The Rev. George Greer, local pastor, will fill the Rev. Edgar's pulpit that evening.

Class members are holding another pie fair contest with Mrs. Clarence Henderson, Mrs. Willa Camfield, Mrs. Edgar Grabau and Mrs. Lewis Hesse as captains. February hostesses at the regular meeting of the group were Mrs. A. B. Allen, Mrs. Katie Van Rennes, Mrs. Marion Hemus and Mrs. Laure Culp.

"What's wrong, Amy?"

"I—I don't know whether I've been a fool or—not. But it's too late now." She looked at Kemp. "I—I've got a woman locked in one of the fitting rooms!"

Both were speechless at this confession, and Amy went nervously on: "She came in just before the shop closed and I told Miss Lamont I'd stay and wait on her. She—she was nervous and in an awful hurry. She wanted a complete new outfit and she was going to give the clothes she had on to me."

"But who is she, Amy?" asked Kemp.

"I—oh, you're going to think I'm crazy, and I'm afraid I've got myself in an awful mess."

"Amy, will you stop babbling and tell us?"

"I think she's Mrs. Joseph—the widow who was on the yacht with you, Julia. Amy, she dropped her card case and they were all Mrs. Joseph's cards. But she said her name was Duffield, and she was in an awful hurry, and I had a hunch that—"

"And what a hunch, Amy!" Kemp embraced her so hard that he left Amy breathless. "Where's the 'phone'?"

It was at luncheon the next day that Julia said, "You kissed Amy last night, Peter."

"She deserved it," Peter laughed. "If you could call it a laugh."

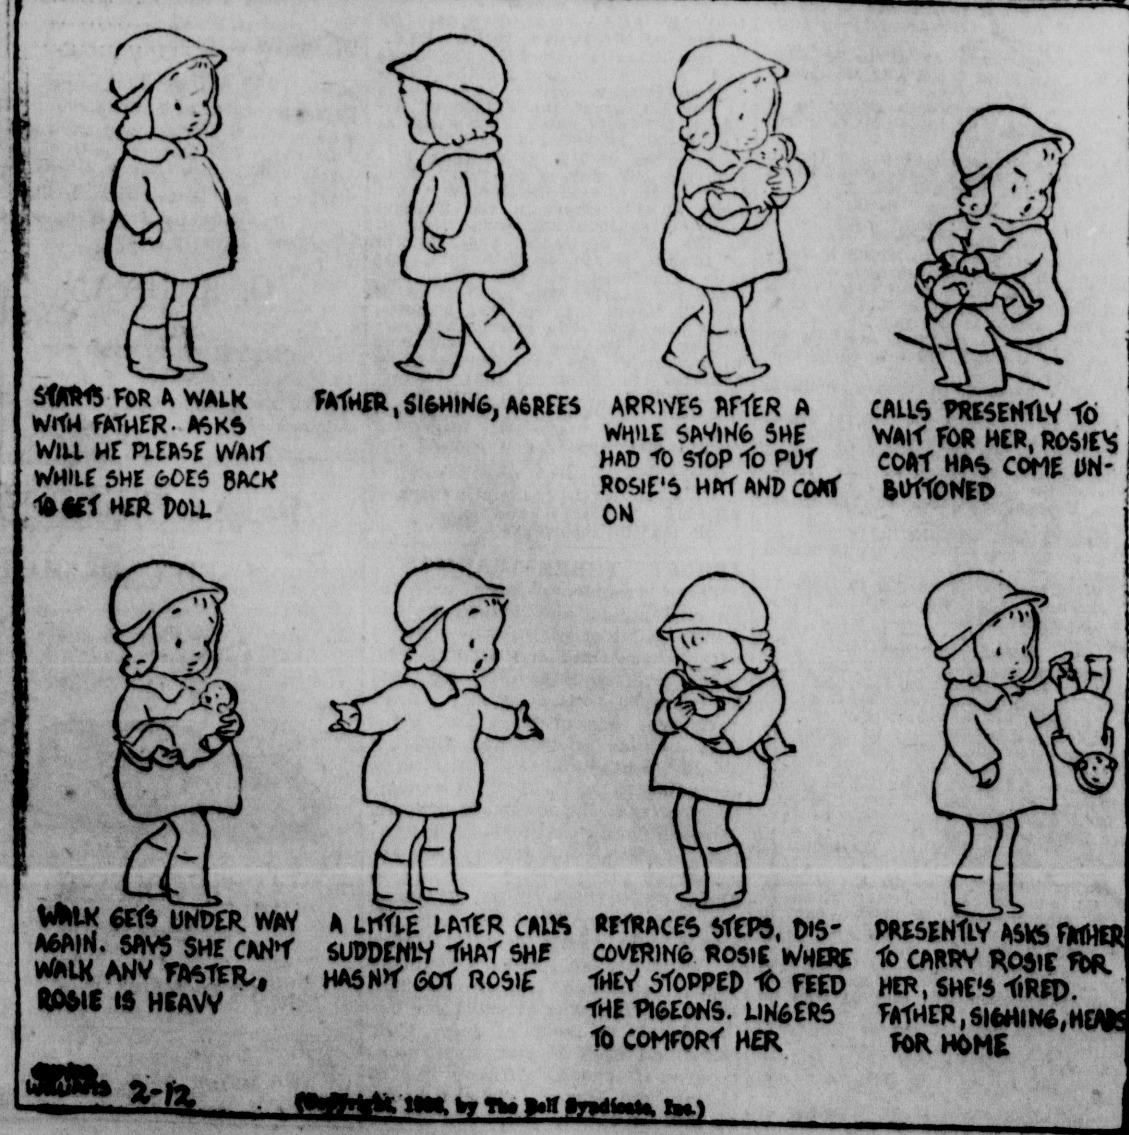

"I could," said Julia. Peter said he would remember that. And when they had driven out into the country he did remember it, too. "I'm going to ask you again, Julia. Will you marry me?"

"What about the dark girl I saw you with in the White Club?" Peter grinned. "She was the daughter of a client. Will you marry me, Julia?" He drew her closer. "I'm opening my own office, and we won't have much money, and that cottage will be pretty small. And—" he stopped suddenly. "You don't still want to sing, do you?"

"Only in that small cottage, Peter. That is, you promise not to interest yourself in your clients' daughters!"

One of the most foolish things we do is to set our great men of bygone days high on pedestals, assuming that because they were great and their times heroic they knew nothing of the mistakes, misunderstandings, and discouragements which are common today.

In no case have we done that quite as consistently as with Abraham Lincoln; and because we have done it, it is hard for us to realize exactly what the man had to face and how he had to steel himself to finish the job that history gave him.

We forget, for instance, that there were times in which the worst things that modern political opponents have said about such present-day figures as Hoover and Roosevelt sounded mild by comparison with the things that were being said about Lincoln.

We forget that he tried to steer a middle course between the defeatists on one hand and the arch-radicals on the other, and got liberally damned by both sides as a result.

We forget that in addition to being a statesman he was also a politician, with a politician's obligation to his party, and that some of the moves which politics compelled him to make—his retention of Ben Butler in the army, for instance, his appointment of Burnside over McClellan's head, his initial appointment of Simon Cameron to the war department—were bad ones which pained his most loyal believers.

We forget that he could no more foresee the future than any other man, and that he knew long hours of agonizing doubt and indecision. When Lee and Jackson marched into Maryland in the summer of 1862, for instance, Lincoln might well have believed that he was on the verge of becoming the discredited leader of a movement which led to the break-up of the Union.

When he signed the Emancipation Proclamation, after those great soldiers of the south had been checked at Antietam, he took a step which, for all he knew, might well mean his defeat at the next election—and which, incidentally, was directly counter to the Constitution he was fighting to uphold. And in the summer of 1864 Lincoln had resigned himself to defeat.

All this is worth recalling, as his birthday celebration arrives once more. Thinking of him as a giant, as a super-man, we overlook the fact that he was a human being like all other presidents, subject to the same doubts, mistakes, and criticism that they all experienced.

And when we think of him in that way we miss the very thing that made him great—the fact that somewhere, in the depths of his own prairie-bred heart, he could find the resources, the strength, the courage to carry on along the line he had chosen, to rise superior to himself and the troubles which assailed him, and bring the nation through in shape to finish the great task which destiny has laid down for it.

SENSIBLE PLAN

Police Commissioner Plummer Bruns and Police Chief Floyd Howard are to be commended for their plan of establishing a municipal rock pile for drunken and reckless automobile drivers. Probably the most commendable feature of the proposed stockade is that it will be open to the view of the public.

Automobiles controlled by criminally reckless drivers have constituted a serious menace to life for years. When alcohol enters the picture the menace is increased.

Repeal has failed to curb drunken driving. Jail sentences and fines also have failed. Perhaps the rock pile, where the criminally negligent can expiate their crime in public view, will succeed.

Under present enforcement provisions a man is arrested for drunken driving, pleads guilty and pays a fine of, say $150. The fine is paid and very few people know of the incident. The drunken driver goes about his business and is still a respected citizen.

That same man, however, will hesitate before mixing alcohol with his gasoline if he knows that, instead of paying a fine, he will break rocks where his business associates and club friends can see him every day.

WHY SANTA ANA?

Superintendent Frank Henderson announced at the public meeting on Monday night that Commissioner of Education J. W. Studebaker in Washington, had called him on long distance telephone and stated that the United States Department of Education was willing to pay for platform talks and have the local board furnish the speakers; that there would be 12 cities in the United States selected for this platform program of education.

One cannot help but wonder why Santa Ana should be selected, unless it be that the powers at Washington at the head of the educational department believe that the school authorities of Santa Ana would furnish programs that were in harmony with those of the administration. Perhaps Superintendent Henderson can answer this. We cannot. When we start public adult education where does it end as to control?

In The Register of Monday, editorial reference was made to the man whom Superintendent of Santa Ana public schools Frank Henderson succeeded. Some persons gained the impression we referred to Superintendent J. A. Cranston. Mr. Henderson did not succeed Mr. Cranston and we were, in no way, referring to Mr. Cranston.

THE DAY OF RECKONING COMES TO CONGRESS

Congress these days seems to be wearing that expression of outraged surprise peculiar to a man who, having bought a nice new $5000 automobile, discovers suddenly that he is going to have to pay for it.

Congress, in other words, ran up a whole flock of bills and sat back with the gleeful assurance that it did not have to worry about where the money to pay them was to be found. And now, as the air fills with rumors that the administration is going to bring in a new tax bill, the congressmen are acting as if someone had played a mean trick on them.

To anyone but a politician, the absolute necessity of levying some new taxes at this session must appear inescapable.

There is, first of all, the bonus, which is going to run to approximately two and one-quarter billions. Something like $300,000,000 is needed to pay off obligations incurred under the defunct AAA.

The administration's new farm relief-soil conservation program is expected to cost about half a billion more. And, in addition, there almost certainly will be a new relief bill before the session ends.

Facing these unavoidable new expenditures, and faced also by a national debt of more than $30,000,000,000, Congress might reasonably have been expected to do a little worrying about where the money was coming from. But this is a campaign year, and while a congressman does not mind facing the voters with a great spending record for which he must account, he hates like grim death the idea of going before them as a collector.

It is very questionable, however, whether the electorate as a whole is quite as stupid as the congressmen seem to believe.

The electorate may have its dull moments, but it does at least understand that income, in the long run, has to equal outgo. What goes up, in other words, sooner or later comes down. If the salesman leaves a nice new car at your door, you are going to have to pay for it, some day.

Rodney Dutcher, Washington correspondent for NEA Service, reports that the administration is going to ask Congress to levy about a billion dollars in new taxes this year. Preliminary plans apparently call for the raising of this sum through higher income and inheritance taxes; new processing taxes; and a retroactive excess profits tax which would prevent food processors from working both ends against the middle in connection with refunds on the old AAA levies.

A Congress which is in a fair way to boost expenditures by three billions ought, surely, to be willing to find a way to collect at least one. A bill such as that which Dutcher describes, in other words, is about the least that Congress could be expected to do.

Why, then, should Congress act so pained about it? It isn't fun to pay taxes, of course. But the sooner everyone learns that you can't spend public money without collecting it from John Citizen, the better off all of us will be.

AN INTERESTING BOOK

The Register is indebted to Mrs. Anita Alexander, Reference Librarian at Santa Ana Public Library, for the use of a very interesting book. It is her own private book on "education", written by Herbert Spencer. The library does not have a copy of it.

There is a very interesting tale as to how Mrs. Alexander secured her first money for teaching music. She took some of this first money to buy the book "Education", written by Herbert Spencer. Anyone who loves books like this should be in the Reference Department of a library. Her training certainly qualifies her for the job.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Dixie is the region where a man resumes his status as a Democrat when he loses the post office.

Every day is Sunday by and by—probably a bright Sunday in one place and a rainy Sunday in the other.

A typical American is one who thinks the word "Congressmen" doesn't include Senators.

If you want a safe job, try politics. That's one thing the Japs can't make cheaper.

It isn't overpopulation that causes war. There were only three men when Cain started it.

ALL YOU NEED TO MAKE A WINTER RESORT ENJOYABLE IS PLENTY OF MONEY AND THE OVERCOAT AND FIRE YOU LEFT BACK HOME.

But if everything that is new is better, why expect the new generation?

Our ten million jobless may be in cities, but about nine million of them spent their youth between plow handles.

AMERICANISM: Boasting of our right of free speech; private corporations deciding which politicians shall use the air.

Poverty doesn't explain the farmer's grouch. Even a rich man would feel that way if he got up at 4:30.

You needn't ask a man whether he is a conservative or a radical. Just notice whether he says "The Supreme Court" or "nine old men."

A LAND OF EQUALITY IS ONE WHERE A MAN WILL PROVE HIMSELF AS WELL-BRED AS ANYBODY IF HE HAS TO LICK EVERYBODY PRESENT.

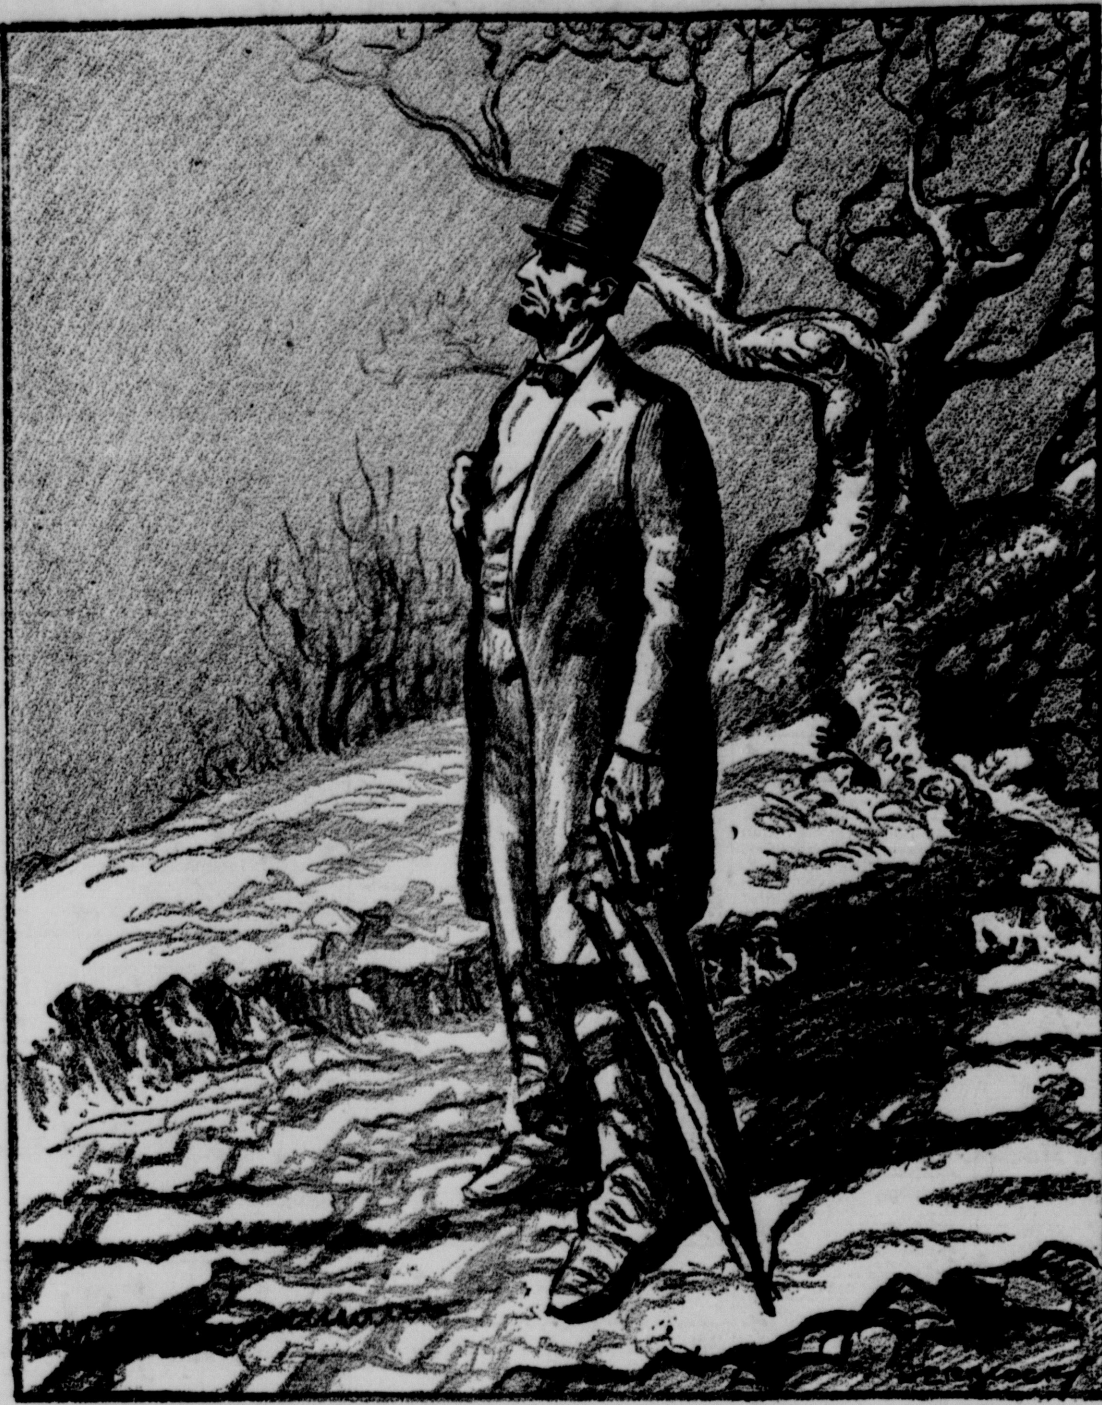

So you think modern women the first to boss their husbands? Boy, page Grandma.

Better not criticize the Supreme Court too much. People were taught to scorn the law during Prohibition, and now look at us.

"People who can't manage their own affairs feel competent to manage the government." Well, why not? The elected ones do it.

There Was Uncertainty Then, Too

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Growing controversy over inflation, with the oft-heard suggestion that there are good and bad kinds, that they are controllable and uncontrollable varieties of currency expansion, is an indication that the subject cannot be dismissed as irrelevant even if it is assured that President Roosevelt is opposed to printing press money of any sort.

What the people who write in to Washington want to know is this: If the federal government can issue its own bonds in extensive quantities and these bonds become the equivalent of money at the banks, who cannot the government issue currency directly and save itself the payment of interest?

This is a fair question, especially in view of the fact that $60 of government bonds can, under the law, constitute the backing for the issuance of $100 of currency, provided the other $40 worth of backing is in the form of gold certificates held at the Federal Reserve banks as a reserve.

Government bonds, however, are originally a borrowing from the people, who draw from their bank funds. These bank funds would not be forthcoming unless the people or their trustees in the banks felt that bank deposits could be safely invested in those bonds.

When are government bonds a safe investment? The answer is: When it is apparent to the investors—either banking institutions or individuals—that the government will repay the bonds at maturity.

What evidence or indication is there that the government will repay? One evidence is that the government will raise revenue through taxes, that it will gradually balance its expenses against receipts and provide for annual installment payments to retire the bonds.

Another evidence of intention to repay is the willingness of the government to pay interest for the hiring of the people's money. The interest charge is an incentive toward ultimate retirement instead of perpetual maintenance of the debt. Otherwise, there would be such an extensive increase in the size of the debt as to arouse doubts whether a government had the capacity to repay any of its outstanding bonds at 100 cents on the dollar.

There is no physical reason at all why a government cannot issue bonds without interest or currency in unlimited quantities.

The printing press could turn out the bills and the bonds. But how would they get into circulation?

Let us suppose the government used the currency to pay for relief projects or the purchases of materials or to pay federal employees. The question would then turn on what faith the storekeepers and merchants generally would have in accepting at 100 cents the currency issued or what faith the holders of bonds previously issued would have in retaining their securities or selling them. The markets would promptly reflect downward trend in bonds and a dollar bill might sell at a discount, as it did in Civil war days, when it got down to 35 cents.

Faith is not merely a blind confidence in a government seal or stamp. It is something that starts with those who are familiar with the backing of currencies and the capacity of governments to pay bonds. The feeling of confidence or lack of confidence percolates very quickly down through the community to all the people.

In the case of a drop in confidence in a government, as happened in Germany in 1923, the people did not feel safe in keeping their currency very long, so they converted it quickly into commodities or things. For a time, this creates a demand for goods and looks healthy. But actually it is a fever which, when it runs its course, leaves a terrible residue. Once paper money begins to depreciate in value, or rather once prices begin to skyrocket in terms of paper money, human nature is such that the drop in value becomes uncontrollable.

Today, while the American people know they cannot actually get gold for their currency, they have a feeling the federal reserve banks do hold gold certificates, against which the gold bullion in the treasury is pledged by law as security.

This may not be known to the masses who use currency every day, but it is known to the banks and to financial institutions. This accounts for the feeling that America today has a sound monetary base and will continue to have it so long as there is no material change in the gold content of the dollar or so long as government borrowings are not multiplied beyond the nation's capacity to repay the debt.

It has been assumed that, either through the federal reserve banks or through the treasury, both the pledged and the unpledged gold amounting to $10,000,000,000 could be used as a nucleus for the issuance of two and a half times that amount of currency, instead of the $5,700,000,000 of currency outstanding today.

This theory arises out of the fact that 40 per cent is usually considered a sound legal reserve in gold for the issuance of currency. Since $10,000,000,000 in gold bullion would be 40 per cent of $25,000,000,000 of possible currency expansion, the impression has been held that a mere $5,000,000,000 or more of currency issued now would do no harm and would be less costly than $5,000,000,000 in bonds, especially since the latter require an interest payment.

What is overlooked is that the federal treasury has actually issued approximately $30,000,000,000 in bonds, of which nearly half is of such short term as to carry a negligible interest charge. If a negligible interest charge is the same thing, then the treasury has already issued more than two and a half times the gold reserve. A government that has to borrow constantly to pay current bills is bound to have constantly increasing difficulty in maintaining its credit. For the question of whether America can stand a $50,000,000,000 federal debt or something higher than that sum is not quite so pertinent as the rate at which the debt is piled up and the rate at which it can probably be paid back.

During the war, the United States, in less than two years, piled up a debt of about $29,000,000,000 and then reduced it in the decade thereafter down to about $16,000,000,000. Now, in less than five years, the debt has gone up past the war peak to $30,000,000,000, to say nothing of some contingent liabilities which, while well secured, may cost the government many millions.

Can America pay back $10,000,000,000 in the next ten years? What evidence is there of such a trend? How will the money be paid back—by taxes? And will the next generation willingly accept the tax burden or favor repudiation, as was the case with the German youth after the war?

For one thing, federal borrowing still goes on. The national debt is rising rapidly each year. The coming political campaign will probably furnish some sort of corrective in compelling programs of economy, no matter which party is elected in November. But with the public debt as high as it is and with all the weighty problems of trying to keep the borrowings from increasing, there is certainly no room for the intrusion of any confidence-breaking factors, such as are involved in a currency expansion which makes no provision for currency redemption or for the raising of revenues to retire new money forced into circulation by the pressure of government.

Inflation of the credit variety is just as bad as inflation of the currency variety, but the people will tolerate the former somewhat because America's capacity to repay debts is considered much larger than its total public debt of today. American public opinion, however, will not tolerate fiat money backed only by the ink of the printing presses.

CONVALESCENT CHILDREN

Taking care of a convalescent child is more difficult than caring for a thoroughly sick one. The child often thinks he is able to do anything he wants to do. Lying in bed he feels strong. It would be a very different matter if he tried to get on his feet, of course, but he does not know this and insists upon having things his way. The nurse has to use tact and firmness to protect the child against himself. He must stay in bed and keep as quiet as the doctor thinks is necessary.

Keep visitors out of his room. I have known a child, recovering from an operation for appendicitis, to laugh so heartily that he opened the wound and had all sorts of trouble getting it to heal again. The visiting children think they ought to make their sick friend laugh—the harder the better. A few visitors, very brief visits, with someone on guard close by, works best.

As the ailing child gets stronger he wants to do school work. He begins to fret about falling behind in his classes. Don't allow any lessons until the physician in charge gives permission. Studying always raises a child's temperature and that may be precisely the wrong thing to do. Let the lessons wait until the right time comes. It is much harder to recover after a relapse than when the convalescence is steady.

Guard the child's eyes after an illness. Don't allow him to read in bed until he can sit up for a long stretch, and the physician says reading will not hurt him. Reading fatigues the eyes, and that affects the nervous system. As the child's nerves have been strained by illness more strain is not advisable. Rest comes first, then strength.

Measure the time you read to the ailing child. Listening is one of the most fatiguing processes. A child can grow very tired listening to a story. If it is an exciting story his pulse is speeded, his respiration quickened, his nervous system wearied. Any fatigue is bad for the convalescent child.

Read light, amusing stories to these young ones. Uncle Remus is among the best for this purpose. He interests all ages. His stories are funny enough to keep the child amused, but not so loudly funny as to make him laugh uproariously. One must remember that all the reactions of an ailing child are abnormal. He will laugh easier, weep sooner, become cross faster, and with less cause, than when he is well. Don't judge what he can stand now by what he took easily when he was well.

Make the routine of the sickroom impersonal and inevitable. Pin the schedule in a handy place and refer to it regularly. Give treatments, food, attention of any sort, on schedule and do it with no more show of interest than you would make when handing the child a picture book. You are waiting on him, serving him, not stirring up emotions in him or in yourself. Any sign of fear or distress in you will be multiplied in your patient. If you cannot control yourself and be impersonal when waiting on the ailing child, let somebody else do it who can be impersonal.

Let the child get better. Just as soon as he is able to help himself let him do so. Forget illness as soon as it has passed. Give care when it is needed, but let health do its work as soon as it is indicated. This is the old doctrine of common sense, but it must be recited for our good occasionally.

Register Clearing House

Editor Register: Dear Sir:—I have read your opinion of Friday, February 7, 1936, about public adult education. I never knew that the American citizen had to pay these public forum speakers; I am quite sure that 10 out of 100 citizens did not know it either! I am very thankful to you giving us this important news! Steps should be taken at once to stop this so-called lecturer from spreading "communism" in the U.S.A. If speakers like Mr. Browne are allowed to let loose of their vile and godless opinions on the American people, then we can be assured of having rather a communist regime! Worst of all is that the management of the First Methodist church lends their so-called church to a communist sealer! Well, we might have to endure worse things than this!

MRS. ANNA FELDNER,
Orange, Calif.

Editor, Register:—I have been reading the views of various writers as given in The Register Clearing House with considerable interest. These articles together with the reception given to Lewis Browne indicate that there are still a large number of our people who do not believe a man is unpatriotic, un-American or a communist because he may speak favorably about Russia or even suggest that we may learn something from communism.

Dictatorship, tyranny, and even terror may be found in communism, we condemn these evils but realize our own social order is not entirely free from all evils and there is an increasing number of people who believe we may learn something from the Russian experiment.

Many people, like Lewis Browne, believe Russia may even make possible contributions to human welfare.

Several writers have expressed the view that future historians will consider the Russian experiment as the most significant event of the present century.

To students of world history and economics Russia holds a particular interest. A nation occupying about one-seventh of the land in the world overthrowing the old order and experimenting with new theories and despite all the glaring shortcomings and evils is amazing, disturbing and fascinating.

How difficult it is to receive fair, unbiased accounts of Soviet Russia, many authors are very evidently trying to discredit the whole experiment rather than to give a fair picture of it, many of the books in the library were written years ago.

I would like to suggest a book that may be found in our public library to those who would like to learn more about U.S.S.R.

Russia Today by Sherwood Eddy, a Y.M.C.A. worker, who has visited Russia 10 different times, escorting parties made up of educators, writers and lecturers. He was allowed to take his own interpreters and writes as a realist and critic of U.S.S.R. and of the U.S.A.

The author has written about 15 other books, dealing with conditions in Asia, Europe, religion and social justice.

C. W. ROWLAND.

The articles declare the club to be organized for social and benevolent purposes. Directors are Lotie Morse, J. Antoinette Nenne, Myrtle Little, Sarah Pendleton and Myrtle Pilgrim.

Mrs. J. H. Medlock and her daughter, Velda, were among Santa Anans who yesterday attended the piano recital of Josef Hoffman in Simpson auditorium, Los Angeles. The Misses Pauline and Julia Jacobs, Miss Potter, Ruth Armstrong and Miss Louise Long were others in attendance from this city.

For 3 days and now that it's working again this brilliant young man can't even remember the message for Post sake.

My lands yes, as far as telephones go, we mite as well be living in the dark middle ages, ma said. Was it a man's voice or a woman's, dont you even know that? she said, and I said, I did know, but I forget.

O deer, I'm sure it was important and I'm dubble sure it was for me, ma said, and pop said, I have a faint suspicion gradually increasing in intensity that it was for me. Did the person leave any name? Maybe that will bring some spark to the limited surface of your otherwise massive brain; he said.

Yes sir, G, now I remember, I said, and pop said, Sureeka, you mean they did leave a name?

Yes sire, I said, and pop said, Well what name was it?

The Telephone Company, I said. The man said the fone is working all rite now. So the message was really for both of you, I said, and pop said, Here's a little message exclusively for you.

Better late than never, at least according to some schools of philosophy, pop said. Who was it for, me or your mother? he said, and I said, That's just a truble, I can't quite remember.

Well of all things, put on your thinking cap for land sakes, ma said, and pop said, What was the message about, didn't it make any impression on you at all?

Yes sir, it did when I heard it, but the impression seems to of went away, I said, and pop said, We mite as well not have any telephone, it's been out of order

BUSINESS MEN ASKED OPINION ON BUILDING

To determine the sentiment of local business men on the proposal to erect an agricultural educational building in Jack Fisher park here, a meeting of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce committee named to investigate the matter will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock, it was announced today by Secretary Howard I. Wood of the chamber of commerce.

W. D. Ranney is chairman of the chamber's agricultural committee which is checking the proposal. Other members of the committee are Ed Hall, E. R. Latta, O. H. Barr, Dr. E. A. Bauer, Samuel Hart, Ellis H. Diehl and C. A. Warren.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, who suggested the construction of the rural educational center as a Works Progress Administration project at a meeting of the chamber directors this week, will attend the meeting.

Secretary Wood said that both Mayor Fred C. Rowland and Supervisor W. C. Jerome are interested in determining the attitude of Santa Ana business men on the proposed venture before acting on the proposal.

The proposed building would cost around $14,000, and the county and city each would contribute $2,000 to the program if the project goes through.

The question of whether WPA projects can be carried out as cheaply as if the projects were under private contract was raised at the chamber directors' meeting. This phase of the question is expected to be discussed at Friday's meeting.

BID WITHDRAWN AS ERROR DISCOVERED

L. R. Wilson of Tustin was practically substituted for W. H. Bowman, also of Tustin, as contractor on the new tuberculosis building at the county hospital, when the county supervisors late yesterday permitted Bowman to withdraw his bid of $22,814 for the job, for the reason that he had made an error in his bid.

Bowman had petitioned WPA to be released from his bid, and the supervisors approved such release, at the same time recommending to WPA that Wilson's bid of $28,425 be accepted.

Architect M. Eugene Durfee was present and approved the change in contractors.

ESTATE MATTER FILED

The $3000 estate left by William Stevens, who died in Santa Ana 18 years ago, January 20, 1918, was listed on superior court records today as a petition for letters of administration were filed by his daughter, Annie Ashford, of 833 North Van Ness avenue, Santa Ana. Personal property valued at $1000, and a $2000 interest in a New York estate, were included as assets of the Stevens estate. The daughter, and her mother, Mary Stevens, of the same address, are the legal heirs.
